SATISFACTION with oneself—the consciousness of having done well, the knowledge that you have succeeded where others have failed—such satisfaction is good. But the difference between success and failure is not always discernible. A bright, optimistic temperament and calm mental poise fit an individual for doing his or her best. Such a sound, healthy state of mind is rendered difficult, if not impossible, when a person is troubled with digestive disturbances. Nothing does more to put one off mental and physical effort. Tiredness, that languid, heavy feeling, nervous irritability, with disinclination to concentrate the mind, are some of the results of stomach, bowel and liver irregularities. A few doses of Beecham's Pills will regulate the organs and stimulate them to healthy activity. You really cannot do better than take BEECHAM'S PILLS. Sold everywhere in boxes price 1/1½ (56 pills) and 3/9 (168 pills). (5)

FIRE BRIGADE PAY.

DUBLIN CORPORATION PROPOSAL.

AN ALLEGATION OF ELECTIONEERING.

A special meeting of the Dublin Corporation was held yesterday, Alderman A. Byrne, Acting Lord Mayor, presiding, to consider the following requisition addressed to the Lord Mayor:—

"That we, the members of the Council of the City of Dublin, hereby rescind so much of the Orders of the Council at the meeting on April 30th, in connection with Report 120, 1923, as affected the war wage of the members of the Dublin Fire Brigade. That the basic wage of the Fire Brigade be increased by 3s. weekly in the case of the Fire Brigade men and 5s. weekly in the case of the station officers."

The requisition was signed by 28 members of the Council.

The Chairman said that he was advised by the Law Agent that the first portion of the resolution was out of order, in view of the fact that there was an arbitration and an award issued. The second part of the resolution was in order.

Mr. Lawlor said that he would move the second part of the motion.

Mr. Gately seconded.

Mr. P. T. Daly said that this motion was drafted prior to the arbitrator (Mr. Lardner, K.C.) giving his decision, and it had been held up ever since. He quite agreed with the Acting Lord Mayor that, in view of what had occurred, it would be better to carry out the terms of the arbitration rather than do what was originally set down in the motion. But they were all agreed that the recommendation which the arbitrator put into his report, and which he (Mr. Daly) might say was frankly outlined in the arbitration proceedings, was a matter which would receive the urgent attention of the Council, and would be put into operation immediately. With that view he moved the following amendment:—

"That, in view of the decision of the arbitrator (Mr. Lardner, K.C.), recommending the revision of the basic wage of the Fire Brigade men, and pointing out its inadequacy, it is hereby decided to fix the following scale of pay for the different grades in the service:—Second officers, on appointment, £400 a year; after one year's service, £450; second year, £500, with a maximum of £550."

A NEW MATTER.

Mrs. Wyse Power asked if the Council could do business that they were not summoned to do. They were called together for a special purpose, and five of the names to the requisition were those of Parliamentary candidates. A new matter was brought before them now, and she held that it was not in order.

Dr. Myles Keogh said that he signed the requisition before going forward as a Parliamentary candidate.

Mr. Rice, Law Agent, said that they could accept any motion dealing with the same matter and on the same lines as this amendment. Under Standing Order 13, if there was any alteration in the amount to be expended they should have a certificate from the proper officer before the house. He understood that there was a certificate on the motion on the agenda, but if there was anything different to be put the Council could not consider it unless they had another certificate.

Mr. Daly said that he was afraid that there was an alteration. In order to make an alteration in the basic wage they had to make certain financial provision for it. Mrs. Wyse Power had made a suggestion that the requisition was signed by persons who were candidates for Parliament. At the time that the requisition was signed there was no thought of any prorogation of Parliament or of any election. He suggested that the scale for station officers be £4 17s. 6d. per week on appointment, rising to a maximum of £5 5s. by yearly increments of 2s. 6d.; firemen £3 12s. 6d. weekly on appointment, rising by annual increases of 2s. 6d. to a maximum of £4 12s. 6d. He was not aware at the time of the calling of this meeting, nor were the other signatories to the requisition aware, that the Waterworks Committee were considering the matter. If he had known of that he would have taken steps to prevent this meeting being called, as he had perfect confidence that the Waterworks Committee would deal fairly with the Fire Brigade. He proposed that the amendment, having regard to what the Law Agent said, so far as it referred to the station officers and firemen, be referred to the Waterworks Committee for consideration.

Mr. Loughlin, who said that the whole matter would be considered by the Committee the next day, seconded.

Mrs. Wyse Power said the whole proceedings was unnecessary. It was electioneering, pure and simple.

Mr. Daly—I object to that. I object to Senator Mrs. Wyse Power attributing motives to any member. It may be in order in the Senate, but it is not the order that we are accustomed to here.

Mrs. Wyse Power said that she accepted what Dr. Keogh and Mr. Daly had said, that they were not aware that the elections were about to take place when they signed the requisition, but surely they were aware, when they pushed this through the Council, that they were in the throes of an election.

Mr. Daly—Certainly, and are we not entitled to do it? I do not ask Mrs. Wyse Power for permission for what I do.

Mr. Daly's amendment, recommending that the scale be referred to the Waterworks Committee for consideration and report, was adopted.

DUBLIN THEATRES.

SECOND WEEK OF "THE LADY OF THE ROSE."

The size of the audience at the Gaiety last night showed that the second week of "The Lady of the Rose" is to be as successful as lost. While the music may not have quite the melody of the old musical comedies, it is a very pretty production, particularly well staged and dressed. Mr. Huntley Wright is a delightful and restrained comedian, who says dry things. The gowns of the members of the ballet would be sufficient to ensure the success that "The Lady of the Rose" has scored in Dublin.

THEATRE ROYAL.

One of the best revues which has been presented to a Dublin audience for some time is "The Mixture," which last night kept the large audience at the Theatre Royal in good humour from start to finish. The production consists of fourteen scenes. There are plenty of dances and comedy acts, while the chief artists are competent. A young genius is Ivor Vintor, who plays many parts in a manner which compels attention. He is one of the brightest and best of the boys that one has seen on the stage. The other leading characters are Cyril Key, Arthur Goddard, Daniel Greene, Jack Lovell, Winnie Seamen, and Len Clifford.

ABBEY THEATRE.

There was a large audience at the Abbey Theatre last night, when "The Man Who Missed the Tide" and "The Young Man from Rathmines" were performed. As Moira Quinn, in the former play, Sara Allgood gave an excellent study. She was supported by Eileen Crowe, Gertrude Murphy, Maureen Delany, F. J. McCormick, Arthur Shields and Michael J. Dolan.

"The Young Man from Rathmines" has lost none of its popularity by repetition, and those who had seen this amusing one-act play before welcomed and enjoyed its reproduction last night.

Selections by Dr. Larchet's orchestra added to the excellence of the programme.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

The melodrama, "Alone in London," was played at the Queen's Theatre last night. The play deals with the sufferings of a woman, chained to a brutal and debased husband, who has to provide the necessities of life for herself and her child. The activities of a gang of counterfeiters, and the efforts of the law to arrest it, contribute to the "sensations" of the play, and there is, of course, the inevitable happy-ending. Virtue is represented in the character of John Biddlecombe, played by William Macready; while the villain is provided in Richard Redcliffe, played by William Melvyn. Edna Godfrey-Turner plays well the unhappy wife, and Pearl O'Donnell is Gipsy Tom, her friend.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

Flora Cromer, an Australian comedienne, was the chief attraction at the Tivoli Theatre last night. In comic and sentimental songs she was equally successful. Harry Balcon, in a scena entitled "The Village Blacksmith," was good, as were the Brothers Fordyce, comedians. "Query" saw into the future, and answered many questions from persons in the audience. Charles Falls was a humorous character, while the Lee Trio, in a vocal and dancing act, were well received. Athelda and her partner gave an exhibition of weight-lifting and acrobatic skill.

OLYMPIA THEATRE.

"Come Along," a nautical revue, in ten scenes, is presented by Amusicus Productions at the Olympia Theatre this week. It is new to Dublin. The plot is of the flimsiest, but the cruise of the steamer, "Come Along," suffices for the introduction of a high-stepping beauty chorus, and some good singing and dancing. Billie Lowe is the principal comedian; some of his jokes savour of antiquity. One of the best items is the singing of Jose Santrah, a baritone. In the duet, "Amami," with Victoria, he is particularly effective. The "specialities" by Sara Olwen, Daly and Olive, Ernest Shannon, Lowe and Lomas, the Eight Come-Along Girls, and the Twelve High-Steppers are amusing.

PROBLEMS OF THE MOTOR TRADE.

SUGGESTIONS AT AGENTS' CONGRESS IN DUBLIN.

A large attendance, representative of the motor agents throughout the whole of Ireland, was present at the opening of the Irish Motor Agents' Congress in the Molesworth Hall, Dublin, on 16th inst. The meeting was called to review the various problems connected with the trade, and to consider plans for combined action, in defence of motor agents' interests.

Mr. F. M. Summerfield, who presided, reviewed the position of motor agents, and dwelt upon the great necessity for unity and co-operation if the motor trade of the country was to be conducted on an efficient and remunerative basis. Ever since its foundation the association had exerted a constant influence upon the manufacturers and wholesale trading houses, in defence of the rights of agents. Its influence had also been directed to induce members to improve their garages and their methods of business for public service.

On the proposal of Mr. Richardson (Sligo), it was agreed that the association and the individual members use all their influence to have the horse-power tax abolished, and a tax on petrol substituted.

Mr. Wallen (Dublin) proposed that evidence be submitted to the Fiscal Committee, favouring a reduction of the import duties on "foreign cars" to 20 per cent., and of British and Colonial cars to 10 per cent. An amendment by Mr. Carlos (Roscommon), favouring the abolition of all import duties was lost, and Mr. Wallen's resolution carried.

Mr. Quigley (Banagher) complained of the Government's action in supplying private persons with motor goods purchased at preferential rates. Mr. Archer (Dublin) said that this practice was making serious encroachments on agents' businesses, and would have to be opposed determinedly. The meeting decided to make strong representation to the Government on the subject.

A resolution, proposed by Mr. F. A. Wallen, protesting against the high price of petrol in Ireland, as compared with Great Britain, and copies were ordered to be forwarded to the various motoring bodies in Ireland, as well as the Chamber of Commerce and other public bodies.

Mr. Thompson (Wexford) referred to the scarcity of skilled motor mechanics, and the altogether inadequate arrangements for their training which at present existed. It was useless for traders to hope for a revival of trade unless they took immediate steps to cater for the immense quantity of repair work that would inevitably follow on an increased use of cars by the public.

Various subjects of great interest to the trade were discussed, and the meeting concluded with a warm vote of thanks to the chairman.

The Proved Superiority of MACINTOSH N.A.P.'s for Lancia Vehicles

Messrs. Brisk and Sharp possess two small Lancia Chars-a-bancs; Mr. Brisk's vehicle is equipped with Macintosh N.A.P. Tyres; Mr. Sharp's (a new one) with ordinary inflated pneumatics.

Mr. Sharp states that passengers prefer Mr. Brisk's vehicle and demand it in preference to his own

BECAUSE

THE VEHICLE FITTED WITH MACINTOSH N.A.P. Pneumatic Tyres "glides" smoothly AND DOES NOT "BUMP."

Mr. Brisk and Mr. Sharp have decided that as soon as the Inflated Pneumatic Tyres "give out," MACINTOSH N.A.P. Tyres will be fitted to all their vehicles.

This will mean INCREASED PROFITS.

COLLEGE OF NURSING DANCE.—The dance in the Metropole Ballroom in aid of the Irish Board of the College of Nursing was a great success. A large and representative gathering made merry until the early hours of Saturday morning, and the organisers of the function have every reason to be well satisfied with the result of their efforts. The music, which was admirable, was supplied by Mr. E. J. Harrison's No. 1 Orchestra, and the catering was done by the Metropole Restaurant in first-class style. Altogether, the dance was among the most enjoyable and successful affairs of the season.

As the car fell Mr. Wilson jumped clear, and swam to the steps in the wall, up which he clambered. The car was salved later in the day.

BLESSINGTON TRAM BURDEN.—As the result of arguments put before the authorities by a deputation from the Wicklow County Council, a letter was read at yesterday's meeting stating that they viewed with grave concern the fact that the Blessington Tramway undertaking, not only placed a heavy burden on the local ratepayers, but also involved increased State contributions. It was proposed to take an early opportunity of reviewing the position, and consider what means may be devised to relieve public funds, either wholly or partially, of the heavy annual charges involved.

DEATH OF MR. J. J. HEALY.—The death of Mr. John J. Healy, Chairman of Rathdown (No. 2) Rural Council, occurred on Sunday at Bray. Mr. Healy had been Chairman of the Council since 1916, and was also a member of the Wicklow County Council.

The death occurred suddenly yesterday of Mr. Joseph Pim, The Mall, Wicklow, a member of a well-known Quaker family. Mr. Pim was connected with the shipping industry.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

TRAMWAY MANAGERSHIP.—The conditions of appointment of the new manager for the Belfast Corporation tramways were under consideration yesterday at a special meeting of the Belfast Corporation. Councillor Alexander drew attention to the advertisement by the Corporation with reference to the appointment of a new manager, the wording of which meant that no Belfastman need apply for the position. The advertisement stated that applicants must be not only general managers, but engineers, with extensive technical and administrative abilitiy, and have a wide experience of tramways work. These words meant that no Belfastman, no Ulsterman, and no Irishman need apply, because they could not find an Irishman in the British Isles with those qualifications. He proposed that the words "and engineer" be left out. Councillor Magowan seconded. Supporting the amendment, Councillor McAleavey said that they required a business man as manager. They had plenty of engineers to spare in the Corporation, to whom the manager could applyfor any assistance he required. The amendment was adopted.

193RD APPEARANCE IN DOCK.—"I cannot do anything with you," said the magistrate in the Belfast Custody Court yesterday, when Margaret Hand, or Cochrane, made her 193rd appearance for drunkenness. She was ordered to pay 40s. and costs.

DEATH WHILE ON HOLIDAY.—The death occurred suddenly, on Sunday evening, at Portrush, where he was holidaying, of Mr. James Wilson, of Mountjoy street, Derry. Mr. Wilson joined the Post Office service at Letterkenny in 1892, subsequently serving in Clones and in Letterkenny again. He then went to Enniskillen in 1895, where he remained until April, 1892, where he was superannuated owing to ill-health.

ARSON CHARGE.—At the Belfast Custody Court yesterday, Patrick M'Hugh was charged with setting fire to his shop and dwelling-house, 26 Springfield road, on August 18 or 19, with intent to defraud. A remand was ordered, bail being fixed at £200 personally and two sureties of £100 each.

GLASGOW DOCTOR MISSING.—Dr. Imrie, Bishopriggs, Glasgow, aged 25, who was on holiday at 16 Golf terrace, Portrush, has been missing since Saturday evening, and much anxiety is felt for his safety. He went for a walk and did not return.

A BELFAST RECREATION.—"These assaults on the police cannot be allowed," said the magistrate in the Belfast Custody Court yesterday. "They are increasing every hour," said a District-Inspector. "That is because the 'pubs.' are closed, and the people cannot get recreation inside," was the explanation offered by Mr. John S. Osborne, solicitor. Three men were fined.

ENGLAND V. THE REST.

On a dead pitch, in dull weather, after a shower that delayed the start for ten minutes, the cricket at Lord's proved interesting, and at times sensationalc. A lot happened, and dedespite the serious interference on Saturday, there may be a fine finish. Altogether 19 wickets fell and 352 runs were scored, a completed innings on each side leaving England one run ahead. Score:—

WORCESTERSHIRE V. SUSSEX.

Worcestershire lost a golden opportunity of gaining a lead on the first innings in their game with Sussex, at Worcester yesterday. There had been very little rain since stumps were drawn on Saturday, and the wicket was firm and true, but the batting of the home side was tame in the extreme, and they never seemed to recover from the effects of the mistaken policy of tampering with the recognised batting order. DERBYSHIRE V. NOTTS.

After a blank day on Saturday, the start in this match at Chesterfield yesterday was delayed until half-past three, owing to farther rain. Winning the toss, Derbyshire batted first on a wicket which was very soft, but easy. Notts had the benefit of Staples's services, which they certainly needed, and he and the other bowlers found the conditions so heavily against them that Derbyshire's object was to score quickly in the expectation of the wicket becoming difficult later on. LANSDOWNE L.T.C.

Lansdowne L.T.C. have had their application to hold an open tournament granted by the I.L.T.A., and it will take place at Lansdowne road, starting on September 3. The events number eight, including Open Singles, Men's and Ladies' and the Veterans' Championship of Ireland. These, with the usual handicap events, should attract a good entry, and with favourable weather an interesting week is assured. All arrangements are in the hands of an experienced committee, and entries should be sent to the Hon. Secretary, Lansdowne L.T.C., Lansdowne road, before Saturday, September 1, on which date entries will close.

ENGLISH PLAYERS IN AMERICA.

The first matches of a series of eight between American lady lawn tennis players and the English visitors were decided at Newport, Rhode Island, yesterday. Miss Goss defeated Miss McKane, 7-5, 6-4; Mrs. Covell defeated Miss Bancroft, 6-1, 6-0; Mrs. Clayton beat Miss Scharman, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2; Mrs. Mallory beat Mrs. Beamish, 6-3, 6-1.

Miss McKane and Mrs. Covell beat Mrs. Wightman and Miss Goss in the doubles, 6-4, 8-6, thus giving Great Britain a lead of three matches to two on the day's play. The remaining doubles match, Mrs. Beamish and Mrs. Clayton v. Miss Scharman and Miss Baker, will be played to-day, when yesterday's winners will also meet.

NEWCASTLE (CO. DOWN) TOURNAMENT.—Concluded on Saturday last. Final men's handicap singles—C. J. Webb (15) beat E. H. J. McCabe (3-6)—6-3, 6-4.

GOLF.

PROFESSIONAL COMPETITION.

The following is the draw for the monthly professional competition, for prizes presented by Sir Stanley Cochrane, to be played to-day at Dun Laoghaire, commencing at 10.30:—

J. Quinn and E. Bradshaw; J. Barrett and D. Mahony; M. O'Neill and J. Martin; J. Sullivan and T. Travers; W. Holley and M. McDermott; F. Smyth and W. Nolan; T. Monaghan and J. Bailey; J. Doran and J. Gaffney; P. O'Connor and T. Gaffney; J. Nugent and P. Carroll; P. McKenna and J. Murray.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR R. H. DE MONTMORENCY.

R. H. de Montmorency, of the Royal and Ancient Club, who won the St. Andrews tournament, which concluded on the Eden course, St. Andrews, on Saturday, scored another fine success yesterday when he won the re-play of the tie for the best single round in the Eden tournament last week. A. R. Thomson, jun. (Dumbarton), and George Tucker (St. Andrews) were the players with whom he contested the round, which resolved itself very much into the nature of an encounter between Thomson and Montmorency. At the seventeenth Thomson had a lead of a stroke, but he half topped his drive at the eighteenth and lost his advantage, the round thus finishing level, Thomson and Montmorency each returning 76 and Tucker 80. Four extra holes were played by Montmorency and Thomson, and on these Montmorency won by a stroke.

The competition will be over 18 holes by strokes, under lowest club handicap. Entries will be received by Mr. J. P. Rooney, Irish Times Office, up to Friday next, 24th inst. "MY AUNT LIVED TO 98"

Mr. W. CROSS, House Painter, writes: "I have been taking Phosferine for the last twenty years and I am 57 now. I was recommended to do so by an aunt who lived to 98. Wherever I go on a job I talk about your famous tonic for I have always found it splendid. If, when I am busy, I go for any long period without taking Phosferine I can always feel the benefit when I resume. It seems to "buck me up," and whenever I work on a building—dangerous jobs or otherwise—I find it keeps my nerves right. Phosferine keeps colds away, in fact I never have anything the matter with me, and though I am 57, I don't feel more than 20! Everybody talks about how active I am, and the sole reason, as I tell everybody, is that I take Phosferine. You can use this testimony as you like for everybody ought to know." 1, Elmleigh Villas, Hersham Rd., Walton-on-Thames.

Phosferine is a perfectly harmless preparation, and is given with equally good results to the children as to the adults. The advantage of taking Phosferine is immediate—it makes you well and keeps you fit at all times.

DUBLIN POLICE COURT.

CHARGES AGAINST SOLDIERS.

Sergeant Francis O'Neill, of the National Army, stationed at Cavan, was charged in the Dublin Police Court yesterday with having, on June 5 last, broken into and entered the military transport stores at Cavan, and stolen therefrom 85 gallons of petrol and 42 empty petrol tins, the property of the State.

Mr. Clarke prosecuted for the State Solicitor.

Inspector Gorman deposed that, when charged and cautioned that morning, the accused said—"I am not guilty."

On the application of Mr. Clarke, the case was sent to Cavan for trial.

Francis Timoney, a private in the National Army, stationed at Collins Barracks, was remanded on the charge of wilfully murdering Sergeant George Gorman by shooting him with a rifle at St. Bricin's Hospital on January 18. Bail was refused.

In the case of Private James Tyrrell, North Dublin Union Barracks, charged with the wilful murder of Private John Crampton by shooting him with a revolver on June 9 last, informations were refused, and accused was discharged.

Daniel Walsh, no fixed address, was remanded for a week on the charge of breaking and entering the premises, 5 Creighton street, on August 20. He was also charged with being concealed on the premises, and with having house-breaking implements in his possession.

SWIMMING.

THE LIFFEY RACE.

Notwithstanding a continuous downpour, the annual race from Kingsbridge to Butt Bridge attracted almost the same huge crowd of spectators that witnessed the previous races in this event. From Messrs. Guinness' Wharf to the finishing point the quays were well lined, the crowd in places, particularly on the bridges, being as many as eight deep.

Excellent arrangements were made by the Leinster Branch of the Irish Amateur Swimming Association, a like remark applying to Messrs. Guinness and Co., who provided the starting accommodation, and the Public Health Committee of the Dublin Corporation, who provided splendid facilities for the dressing of the competitors at Tara street Baths.

The race throughout was full of interest, and the finish was a fine tribute to the handicapping of Mr. A. J. Cullen.

The following lined up on the starting barge, and were despatched at 6.40 p.m., ten minutes after scheduled time:—H. F. McDona, Clontarf S.C. (9 mins.); T. Cannon, Clontarf S.C. (8 mins. 30 secs.); E. Roberts, Bray S.C. (8 mins. 30 secs.); H. McEvoy, Clontarf S.C. (8 mins.); O. S. Roche, Clontarf S.C. (8 mins.); M. Monks, Sandycove S.C. (7 mins. 30 secs.); A. D. J. Doyle, Clontarf S.C. (7 mins.); P. McGrath, Clontarf S.C. (7 mins.); F. Lynch, Bray S.C. (6 mins.); T. Byrne, Sandycove S.C. (6 mins.); C. H. Anderson, Pembroke S.C. (6 mins.); V. Dyas, Pembroke S.C. (6 mins.); W. Kay, Dublin S.C. (6 mins.); D. Kay, Dublin S.C. (6 mins.); J. D. Clinch, Dublin University S.C. (5 mins.); P. Stuart, Sandycove S.C. (5 mins.); E. Blake, Clontarf S.C. (5 mins.); J. J. Roche, Clontarf S.C. (4 mins. 30 secs.); R. Leitch, Pembroke S.C. (4 mins.); H. F. Case (jun.), Clontarf S.C. (4 mins.); H. B. Barrett, Pembroke S.C. (3 mins.); H. F. Case (sen.), Pembroke S.C. (3 mins.); C. R. Walsh, Sandycove S.C. (3 mins.); J. Quinn, Clontarf S.C. (2 mins. 30 secs.); C. P. Kenna, Sandycove S.C. (2 mins. 30 secs.); C. Fagan, Sandycove S.C. (1 min.); T. H. Dockrell, Dublin S.C. (holder) (30 secs.); and J. C. Hopkins, Pembroke S.C. (winner in 1921) (scratch).

At the Four Courts Roberts was in front, closely attended by McEvoy, McGrath, O'S. Roche, Egan, and Doyle. At Capel street Bridge McGrath went into the lead, the order in the other positions being maintained. At the Metal Bridge C. Fagan, swimming beautifully, rapidly overhauled the leaders, and, taking the lead, maintained it in good style to the end, winning by about 30 yards from T. H. Dockrell. McGrath was third, a yard in front of Clinch, C. R. Walsh fifth, and E. Roberts sixth. Time—29 mins. 15 secs. 3 secs. slower than the winner's time last year.

The prizes were distributed after the race in Tara street Baths by Dr. Lombard Murphy.

ELECTION ADDRESSES & NOTICES.

DAIL EIREANN ELECTIONS, 1923.

CONSTITUENCY OF THE COUNTY DUBLIN.

FARMERS' PARTY CANDIDATES.

TO THE ELECTORS.
Ladies and Gentlemen,

We, the official candidates of the Irish Farmers' Party, solicit your support at the forthcoming elections and refer you to the good work of our Party in the last Dail.

We stand for a strict economy of public expenditure, in relation to which the pending financial adjustment with Great Britain will loom very largely, and we are determined to continue to insist that local Rates shall be equitably levied and wisely and economically spent.

We stand for stability of Government, fostering of our native industries in order to secure prosperity for our Country and relief of unemployment, the protection of the peoples' rights, and the fullest liberty for the Citizen that the Constitution bestows.

As Irishmen we hold that the natural boundaries of the nation are the seas that wash our shores, and we are determined if elected, in co-operation with the other members of the Farmers' Party, to use our best endeavours to secure the political unity of our Country.

As representatives of the farming community to which the greatest majority of the Irish people belong, any legislation calculated to benefit the Country, to provide "the greatest good for the greatest number" will have our full support.

We appeal to you not as politicians, but as business me with a stake in the Country.

We respectfully solicit the votes and influence of all who believe the greatest need of Ireland to-day is that all her citizens should apply themselves to the task of building up the Country and helping to restore order, peace, prosperity and liberty for all.

Remedial legislation is needed in many directions. Our educational systems need to be properly co-ordinated and brought into closer association with our economic needs, the housing problem clamours for early solution, and the vital question of a reduction in the cost of living must be seriously and promptly tackled by the new Dail.

If elected we promise to serve the country to the best of our abilities along the lines outlined above, and we appeal to you, by your votes, to give us an opportunity of doing so.

We are, ladies and gentlemen,
Respectfully yours,
JOHN ROONEY.
JOHN J. FITZSIMONS.

THE FARMERS' PARTY CAMPAIGN

IS NOT MARKED BY BIG DISPLAYS, BANDS, AND FLOWERY ORATORY.

THE FARMERS' PARTY BELIEVES IN ECONOMY AND QUIET EFFICIENCY.

THIS ALSO WILL BE ITS MOTTO IN AN DAIL.

A Political Correspondent wrote in one of Saturday's Provincial Papers:—"At the Offices of the Farmers' Party there is confidence that their Candidate will be successful, but despite that fact cold-blooded systematised electioneering in all its Branches, is being gone ahead with in a much greater degree than is the case with any other organisation in the county. Nothing is being left to chance, and, apart from interests, it is interesting to examine the working of the efficient political machine that has been evolved."

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

William English, while standing near his house at Dundrum, County Tipperary, on Friday night, was fatally wounded by a shot fired by some unknown person. The coroner's jury found that the wound was accidentally received.

A young man named Greiber, a caretaker, was found dead at Kerry Pike, near Cork City, yesterday morning. He had been shot through the heart.

Owing to a labour dispute thousands of men and women in Cork who are connected with the Transport, Distributive Workers' and Grocers' Unions refused to resume work yesterday.

At the inquest in Birr into the death of Mrs. Susan Dooly, who was shot on Friday while motoring, the jury found that death was due to a bullet wound inflicted by a military patrol.

ABROAD

Fire again broke out in the Riviera forests yesterday, but later the wind died away and the flames were subdued. The material damage amounts to at least 25,000,000 francs.

SPORTING.

At Wolverhampton yesterday Crimson Dawn won the Wyfold Handicap.

The Great Need.

Now that the nominations for the general election are over, the attention of men and women who have votes to cast next Monday is being turned to the serious business of choosing their representatives. The choice will not be easy. Roughly, there will be three candidates for almost every vacant seat, and the electorate is bewildered by the variety of promises which have been made by the nominees of the different parties. The average elector wants three things. In the first place, he wants the Treaty. Here and there, perhaps, personal loyalty to individuals and personal antipathy for others may result in the return of men and women who are pledged to undo the work of Griffith and Collins; but, on the whole, the campaign against the Treaty has ceased to be a serious issue of Irish politics, and the "Free State" candidates will be elected in an overwhelming majority. The second desire of the elector is civil peace. Ireland has been torn by strife for such a long time that all decent people are sick of the very name of a gun. Force as an argument must disappear from Irish affairs. The electorate will give short shrift to the candidate who advocates its employment in furtherance of political ends; and whether he be Republican, "Free Stater," Farmer or Socialist, he will have very little chance of success next Monday unless he is prepared to turn his back once and for all on the dismal history of the past few years.

The third desire of the people is not the least important. We are sorry to notice that in the otherwise excellent "future programme" which was published yesterday by the Cumann na nGaedheal economy finds no place. The man in the street has refrained from over-careful criticism of the Government's financial policy. The country has been laid under an appalling debt, but reasonable people have recognised that, in the circumstances, heavy, and in some cases extravagant, expenditure was inevitable. In the future no Irish Government can expect such immunity from criticism. The taxpayers are determined to insist on the strictest economy in all public affairs. At present they are groaning under a five-shilling income tax, the highest postal charges in Europe, and a fiscal system which, while it may for the moment bring grist to the mill of the Minister of Finance, has a very serious effect on the pocket of the individual. We hope sincerely that before next Monday the Government will give a definite promise in this matter. Political ingratitude is common to all countries. If the Government goes to the polls without a statement of its firm intention to reduce public expenditure to an absolute minimum, then, despite its fine record of national achievement, it will lose thousands of votes to which it is fully entitled. All the business candidates have put national economy in the forefront of their programmes. Nearly all the independent candidates are pledged to act as watchdogs over the people's purse. The Government cannot afford to ignore this vital point.

We are convinced that President Cosgrave and the best of his colleagues are as anxious as any business candidate to balance the national budget and to reduce taxation at the earliest possible moment. For that reason alone we believe that their defeat at the polls would be a national misfortune. There are other members of the Government Party, however, from whom pledges of economy ought to be extracted before they are returned to the next Dail. No forecast of the election results is possible in view of the new register and the confusion of candidates, but every sensible man hopes that President Cosgrave will be returned to power with a working majority. It is almost certain that he will have the critical sympathy of the business men and independent candidates, but we venture to say that, in the absence of a sound policy of financial reform, his task will be made unnecessarily difficult. Ireland is settling down now to a normal political existence. The big issues of the past are narrowing, and the prosaic details of domestic economy are beginning to loom large in the public mind. As between supporters of the Treaty the average elector will give his first preference to the man who stands for efficiency and retrenchment. Candidates may have the best possible "national records," but their attitude towards the unromantic business of pounds, shillings and pence will be the touchstone of their success. Cumann na nGaedheal ought to recognise this important fact without further delay

Yesterday and To-morrow.

Dedication to a cause may be a fine or a foolish thing—everything depends upon the cause. It is manifest, however, that people who dedicate children to any cause must feel very sure of themselves, since they take a vast responsibility. They are trying to impose traditions and conditions on a future which may reject them. They are making no allowances for the spirit of change. Two of the speakers at the Republican meeting in Dublin, on Sunday, were boys—sons of Mr. de Valera and of the late Mr. Erskine Childers. We believe that most Irishmen, whatever their political views may be, would have wished the two lads absent from that platform. It is right that boys should honour their fathers and should refuse to hear a bad word spoken of them: no father would have it otherwise. We should think not better, but worse, of young Childers and young de Valera if they did not hold that their fathers were heroic and ill-used men. Is it right, however, that one generation should seek to stereotype in the next the passions that have wrought so much misery and loss—should be unwilling to give the conflicts of yesterday a chance to become "old, unhappy, far-off things and battles long ago?" We do not expect the embittered actors in Ireland's recent tragedy to share our views about the moral and political issues that were at stake. We are entitled, however, to ask them to do nothing that might compromise or constrain the judgment of those who, ten years hence, will be adult citizens of the new Ireland. We invite them to be less supremely self-confident where the destinies of others than themselves are concerned: as Cromwell said on a great occasion, we beseech them to believe that they may be mistaken. There is no real analogy between the dedication of the ten-year-old Hannibal to hatred of Rome and the dedication of Irish boys to hatred of England. Rome and Carthage were rival Powers whose co-existence, in those fierce days, was impossible. So long as one survived, the other was unsafe. A prosperous Ireland and a prosperous England are vital to each other's well-being. The Treaty has made them partners in a mighty Commonwealth of Nations. That is a settled fact of history, present and to come: there is not the remotest likelihood that it will be shaken by the result of the impending elections in the Free State. Ten years hence, no doubt, Ireland will have problems and discontents, but they will be different from the problems and discontents of yesterday. We cannot—even if we would—deprive any Irishmen or Irishwomen of memories, sacred or terrible, which the tragic years have bequeathed to them; but surely the plea that every generation shall be the judge of its own needs and duty is neither unfeeling nor unjust.

New Battleships.

Necessity is the mother of Invention, and mother and child never do better than when Mars is the lawful father of the bouncing babe. The Washington Conference not only cut down the number of new battleships that may be built henceforth by the subscribing Powers, but limited rather drastically the tonnage of those which will replace obsolete units. Britain had the right to begin immediately the construction of two new battleships. How was she to construct, within the maximum tonnage allowed, ships as powerful as the heavier ships of other countries which were already in existence? The most heavily armed battleships afloat carry eight sixteen-inch guns, and both the United States and Japan have ships with this armament. It is now announced that, as the result of experiments since the war, the new British battleships, Nelson and Rodney, will carry nine sixteen-inch guns mounted in triple turrets. In other words, one additional gun will be carried, while the number of turrets is reduced from four to three. Triple turrets are a feature of some of the latest types of battleships, but hitherto sixteen-inch guns have not been mounted in this way and no British ships have been so constructed. Whether the limited tonnage will enable the new battleships to be as speedy as their forerunners of the Queen Elizabeth class is not stated. It is possible that in this direction also the designers have evolved an improvement on everything that has gone before. To the British taxpayer, however, the chief merit of the new battleships is that under no circumstances can their numbers exceed two; and the likelihood of their use in active service is satisfactorily remote.

Sun and Snow.

While our own allotment of fine weather has given way for the moment to cold wind and driving rain, the rest of Europe continues to swelter in a record-breaking spell of heat. Sojourners by sea and lake have no complaint to make of this state of affairs, but the unfortunate traveller who is in the act of making his way to or from the goal of his holiday ambitions is in different case. He sizzles in the airless railway carriage of what the Continent humorously describes as an "express," and would change places gladly with the Dublin citizen who, with coat buttoned up to the neck and a fountain spouting from the brim of his hat, patiently awaits the advent of the Donnybrook tram. Nowhere on the Continent has the hot spell been more persistent than in Switzerland. Her mountains, normally "clothed in white samite, mystic wonderful," now stand up gaunt and bare, as though they were sentinel peaks set about the Arizona desert instead of the guardians of lush mountain meadows rich in Alpine flora and parti-coloured kine. For the first time in history, so far as is known, the Southern side of the Matterhorn is divested completely of snow, and even in the more sheltered spots the drifts have dwindled to pockets and the fields to patches. It is an ill sun that sends nobody any good. The Zermatt guides are making a fortune by taking novices up to points and peaks which are accessible in normal conditions only to the most practised mountaineers.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The King and Queen of the Belgians, accompanied by the Duke of Brabant and Princess Marie José, have left Belgium for Switzerland and Northern Italy. Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of her assumption of the Sovereignty on September 6th. Though she succeeded to the throne on the death of her father, King William III., in November, 1890, her mother, Queen Emma, acted as Queen Regent for eight years; but when Queen Wilhelmina attained eighteen years of age she assumed the full responsibilities. The anniversary will be celebrated by the Dutch colony in London with a garden fête in the Botanic Gardens, Regent's Park, at which the band of the Irish Guards will play.

The appointment has just been announced of Field-Marshal the Earl of Ypres to be Captain of Deal Castle, in succession to Lord George Hamilton, who has resigned. The appointment was made by Earl Beauchamp, Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports. One of these, Rye, still boasts of a fine quadrangular tower built in the reign of King Stephen by William of Ypres, Earl of Kent and Lord Warden of that day.

The exodus from London shows no sign of abating. Every train going North is crowded, and many people are making the journey by motor car. Among those who left for Scotland yesterday were Lord and Lady Louis Mountbatten, the Earl and Countess of Portarlington, Lord Hillingdon, Lord and Lady Stanley, Lord Wolverton, the Dowager Countess of Pembroke and Montgomery, Lord Marshall and the Hon. Gwendolyn Marshall, Lord Blyth and Sir John and the Hon. Lady Wood.

* * *

The Earl and Countess of Ossory are now at Kilkenny Castle, where they will spend the autumn. Lord and Lady De Freyne, who were in Dublin last week for the Horse Show, returned to French Park yesterday. The Marquis of Bute and his son, Lord Dumfries, are staying with Lord Colum Crichton Stuart at Lames Castle, for the opening of the grouse-shooting.

The Earl of Harewood celebrates his seventy-seventh birthday to-day. He succeeded his father as fifth Earl in 1892, and is Lord Lieutenant of the West Riding of Yorkshire and President of its Territorial Force Association. By his marriage with Lady Florence K. Bridgeman, daughter of the third Earl of Bradford, he has two sons. The elder is Viscount Lascelles, the husband of Princess Mary, and the younger Major the Hon. Edward Lascelles, D.S.O., Rifle Brigade. The family estates are situated in Yorkshire, and Viscount Lascelles is also an extensive landowner in Ireland, where he inherited by will the property of the late Marquis of Clanricarde, who died without issue in 1916.

The Earl of Iveagh, who spent some time at Cowes, has now left England for Biarritz. The Marquis of Carisbrooke has arrived in London from Carisbrooke Castle, where the Marchioness of Carisbrooke is remaining for some weeks. The Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry have arrived at Wynyard Park, Stockton-on-Tees, where they are entertaining a large house party for Stockton races this week.

THE CRUISE OF THE SAOIRSE.

A cable was received in Dublin yesterday from Mr. S. D. Lavelle, one of the crew of the yacht Saoirse, which left Dublin in June on a cruise round the world, announcing that Mr. Conor O'Brien (the captain) had decided to change his route. The Saoirse at present is at Pernambuco, in Brazil, where she is undergoing repairs, and will sail next Monday on the last stage of her outward journey. The original plan was to call at Cape Town, and then to sail direct to Australia, but now Mr. O'Brien proposes to miss Cape Town, and to sail direct to New Zealand, making Wellington his first port of call.

VITAL STATISTICS.

BRITAIN'S DECLINING BIRTH-RATE.

Vital statistics for England and Wales for the second quarter of 1923 are contained in a return issued yesterday by the Registrar-General.

The births registered in the quarter numbered 196,831, 3,861 more than in the preceding quarter, but 3,719 fewer than in the corresponding quarter of 1922. Of the 196,831 births, 100,283 were males and 96,548 females.

This is the lowest birth rate recorded in any second quarter, except during the period of war.

The deaths registered numbered 114,040, and were 10,680 fewer than in the preceding quarter, and 6,275 fewer than in the corresponding quarter of 1922.

The number of persons married in the first quarter of 1923 in England and Wales was 106,562, a decrease of 46,198 from the number in the preceding quarter, and an increase of 5,414 over the corresponding quarter of 1922.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

MR. DE VALERA'S INTERVIEWS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Will you allow me to correct the statement issued by the Free State Publicity Department with reference to President de Valera's interviews with Press representatives and others? It is not true to say that he interviewed only one representative of the Press during the past eight months. He saw several representatives of the Press during that period, and it is to the credit of these men that, despite the great pressure put on them by the Free State Party, not one of them violated the confidence reposed in them. Some of them had to deny that they saw the President because the penalty was deportation.

The statement that President de Valera "provided the journalist with a preface as romantic as it was fictitious describing the circumstances of the meeting" is false. The President never did anything of the kind, nor did anyone else do so on his behalf.

In addition to the Pressmen, he saw many other public men, including Mgr. Luzio and other distinguished foreigners, Messrs Douglas and Jameson, etc., and he was constantly engaged interviewing members of his Cabinet and prominent workers and sympathisers in the movement. Only the week before he was arrested he gave a personal interview, lasting over an hour, to the Rev. Edgar De Witt Jones and Mr. Charles Edward Russell, both American Pressmen. I know the circumstances in this matter, and, in the interests of truth, I would ask you to publish this letter.—Yours, etc.,

K. O'CONNELL, Secretary.

THE IMPROVEMENT OF DUBLIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—To improve our city without expense to the State is Dublin's need at present. I write to suggest one way in which this can be carried out—that is, by offering the citizens an inducement to rebuild, reconstruct or otherwise improve their property. At present this reconstruction work is at a stand-still, as no business man, unless under special pressure, will carry out such work. He knows by sad experience that it will mean a revaluation of his property and greatly increased rates.

The inducement which is necessary is an Act of the Dail postponing the revaluation of such reconstruction work for, say, twenty years, in order that the citizens can recoup their outlay somewhat before they have the increased rates to contend with. The passing of this Act would mean the improvement of Dublin in a fairly short time, and the dilapidated look which one sees in most of our city streets would disappear. Furthermore, the increased employment would greatly help labour.—Yours, etc.,

"COMMON-SENSE."

EDUCATIONAL REFORM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—On reading the published programmes and election addresses of the huge array of candidates seeking election to the next Dail one cannot find that educational reform looms large—at least, in proportion to its importance. While one hesitates to conclude that a large number of the candidates is not interested in education, one is driven to the view that many of the candidates do not properly appreciate the urgency and significance of educational reform. While it is admitted that very many grave and urgent problems now confront the country, a reform of our educational machine is indisputably the first question that should engage the attention of the new Legislature. All our dreams and promises of a new Ireland, of a contented, prosperous, independent citizenry, are as so much smoke unless based on a broad, generous immediate reform of the educational system. Can it be possible that some of our potential legislators ignore that fundamental fact?

Up to the beginning of 1921 the same education system obtained for the whole of Ireland. It is significant that, on the assumption of local control by the Six Counties, the first reform attempted had reference to that education system, and the first Bill placed on the Statute Book was an Education Bill. Are we to conclude that what was considered inferior for Northern Ireland was deemed good enough for the Free State? The Northern Government recognised the wisdom of spending more money on education; the Free State has maintained a negative and unsatisfactory attitude on the question. On the one hand, we are told money is not available; on the other, we are assured that the Free State is in a better financial position than the Six Counties.

The absence of a constructive policy in the Free State on the education question is most apparent in the secondary branch, and the evil is further accentuated in the difference of treatment meted out to lay secondary teachers as between North and South. The Northern Government lost comparatively little time in giving the secondary teachers the status and humane consideration to which they were entitled; the lay secondary teachers of the Free State are still clamouring for the removal of their grievances. No scandal is more glaring when one considers that no section of the community has denied the justice of the claims made by the lay secondary teachers, but the latter are still allowed to clamour and nothing is done to meet their fair demands. From a national point of view the policy which concedes the fairness and urgency of this one factor in educational reform and yet omits to translate theory into practice is both short-sighted and foolish.

The deputies returned at the polls must realise their duty, from every national and economic standpoint, to demand vigorously and insistently that no delay shall be tolerated in bringing our educational system abreast of the nation's requirements, and in granting to lay secondary teachers the conditions of service, in regard to salaries, pensions and tenure, that are universally admitted to be their due.—Yours, etc.,

TOMÁS DE BÚRC,
General Secretary, Association of Secondary Teachers (Ireland).

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—"A rather intense depression off the West of Ireland is likely to move north-east, causing south-westerly to westerly winds in the South and south-easterly winds in the North. Dull, rainy weather is likely generally, but an improvement is probable later over England and Ireland. Temperature is likely to continue below normal.

N.W. and N.E. Ireland.—Wind southerly, fresh or strong, veering later; dull and rainy, improving later; visibility poor, improving; rather cool.

S.E. and S.W. Ireland.—Wind south-westerly to westerly or north-westerly, strong, probably touching gale force in exposed places; much cloud and some rain, early showers and brighter intervals later; visibility poor, becoming good; rather cool.

South-West Seaboard, Mouth of Channel to South-West Ireland.—Wind south-westerly to westerly, strong, probably touching gale force at times; dull, some rain, brighter intervals later; visibility poor, improving; sea rough.

Irish Sea and St. George's Channel.—Wind southerly, strong, veering later; dull, rainy, improving later; visibility poor to moderate, improving; sea rather rough.

North-West Seaboard, Northern Ireland to Hebrides.—Wind south-easterly, backing, fresh or strong; dull, rainy; visibility poor or moderate; sea rather rough.

SAW THE DERBY 54 TIMES.

Mr. George Lill, a well-known bookmaker, died at Brighton on Saturday night at the age of 75 years. He had seen the Derby run no less than 54 times. Mr. Lill was a familiar figure in the Silver Ring, and always wore a top hat, which is to be buried with him, together with his bookmaker's satchel, at Brighton on Thursday.

LONDON LETTER.

M. POINCARE'S SPEECH.

69 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

M. Poincaré's speech at Charleville has not thrown much fresh light upon the situation; for, while it contains friendly references to this country, and deprecates strongly any action that would break up the Entente, it gives no hint of any material concessions to the British point of view. On that point, however, we can afford to wait until the official French reply is presented to-morrow. It will be simultaneously published in Paris, I understand.

This is the French Premier's sixty-third birthday. A writer in the Evening Standard mentions some of the characteristics which make him rather difficult to do business with. He is, physically, a little man, with the self-assertiveness that often accompanies lack of stature; racially, a Lorrainer of a "dour" breed resembling our own Scots, "and by training a lawyer to the finger-tips." Add that he is a Frenchman, with a Frenchman's sense of logic, but without a vestige of humour, and we begin to understand what are the difficulties that three British Prime Ministers of very different temperaments, but all very British in what may be called an illogical reasonableness, have experienced in getting on terms with him.

The Dock Strike.

The dock strike has at last been declared "off," and, unless some eleventh-hour change takes place—and with these "unofficial" strikes one can never be sure of anything—the men will go back to-morrow. It has lasted for seven weeks, and, according to an estimate made by an official of the Transport Workers' Union, it has cost the strikers some £300,000 in loss of wages. Another £70,000 has been paid by the ratepayers of Bermondsey and Poplar in relief to the strikers. What the community as a whole has lost through the hold-up of business and the damage to perishable produce it is impossible to compute, but it must be a very large sum.

London's Streets.

Complaints about the condition of London's streets are again filling a large space in the newspapers. This time it is not a mere "silly season stunt." In close on half a century's personal experience I have never known the streets to be "up" in so many places and for such long periods as they have been throughout this summer. The advantage of the increased speed of the new motor omnibuses is largely neutralised by the "blocks" that occur not only at important junctions, but at many other points along all the main routes. The police do their best to minimise the delays, but they cannot work impossibilities, and it is true to say that at the crowded hours a journey of anything under a mile is as quickly accomplished on foot as by omnibus, or even by taxicab.

A New Plan.

Some improvement may be looked for if the Bill which the Transport Ministry is now engaged in drafting should be passed in the autumn session; but a forecast of its provisions, published to-day, does not inspire me with much confidence as to its rapid passage. The principal proposal is that the Ministry itself is to be responsible for the regulation of traffic within a radius of 25 miles from Charing Cross. The argument for this proposal is that traffic regulation is largely a police business, and that the London police are a centralised body under the Home Office and have jurisdiction over a similar area.

Public Opposition.

Nevertheless, I fancy that there will be a great deal of opposition to this further centralisation from local authorities and other interested parties. They may, perhaps, be placated by the proposal to furnish the Ministry with an advisory council containing representatives of the London County Council, the City Corporation and other municipal bodies. But if not—and, as the Council is to have only fifteen members, many local authorities will not be represented—the objectors will be able to mobilise a mass of opposition sufficient to delay, if not to defeat, the measure.

A Remedy.

A thorough remedy can only be found, perhaps, by the adoption of a new method of road construction. The surface of our future streets will, perhaps, be a sort of bridge-work, composed of iron topped with rubber, and built in sections easily removable when repairs are required. Beneath this permanent bridge would run the innumerable pipes and wires required by our modern civilisation at such a distance below the surface that workmen could get at them without interfering with the traffic overhead. If a big prize were offered for the best scheme on some such lines as those sketched out above, I believe there would be no lack of capable engineers to compete, and between them they probably would find a solution for a problem which at present grows more difficult with every succeeding year.

More Work.

Incidentally, such a scheme, which would take a long time to carry out in its entirety, would provide work for a large number of the unemployed, particularly those belonging to the iron and kindred trades. We all agree in theory with Mr. Clynes, who has again been expounding at Cambridge the superiority of work over doles. The practical difficulty of applying the doctrine is, first, to find work of a kind suitable for men of different trades, and, secondly, to ensure that the men who undertake it shall work as honestly as they do for a private employer. The Government, possibly, might find the work, but could the trade unions ensure the fulfilment of the second condition? That is an essential part of the problem to which Mr. Clynes and his colleagues might usefully apply themselves.

The Prince of Wales.

The Prince of Wales is to spend a few days at Balmoral with the King and Queen before leaving for Canada for a stay extending over several weeks at his ranch in the Rocky Mountains. The ranch comprises four thousand acres of land in a somewhat remote part of the prairie, the nearest large town being Calgary. The Stony Creek tribe of Indians who elected the Prince a chief under the title of "Morning Star" on the occasion of his last visit to Canada occupy land a short distance away. It will probably be towards the end of October before the Prince returns, and the complete rest at the ranch is expected to prove of great benefit after a strenuous season in London and much official travelling in many parts of the country.

High Heels.

"High heels have become a thing of the past." So says a morning paper, which goes on to say that the new heels are only about an inch in height, as compared with the two, and even two and three-quarter, heels so long in vogue, and that "all the most fashionable and the smartest women who saunter now along seaside promenades" are wearing them. I only hope it is true; for it would mean a reduction in accidents, a great benefit to the health of the average woman, and, to my taste at least, no small improvement in her appearance.

Frederick Henry Peet, warrant officer, gunner, Royal Navy, was thrown from a motor cycle while riding from Portsmouth to Bristol on Saturday and instantly killed.

SEATS TO BE FILLED	150
CANDIDATES	374

There was a lull in the storm of speech-making yesterday after the burst of oratory during the week-end, and the candidates for election to the new Dail were engaged in less spectacular, but not less effective, work in their committee rooms.

Few new arguments or proposals have been advanced in the speeches which have been delivered as yet. The Government spokesmen have in the main contented themselves with defending their policy and with pointing out that it has resulted in the return of normal conditions throughout the Free State.

The Republican platform has no new planks, and the speeches, if more fiery than those of other parties, contain little material that is not already familiar to the public.

The Business Men, the Independents, the Farmers and Labour do not in the main differ from the Government on broad national policy, but they are anxious that the interests which they represent should have a voice in the affairs of the nation.

The prospects in a number of the more important constituencies are reviewed below.

THE NOMINATIONS.

POLLING AND PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION.

The nominations are worth studying from many points of view. Ireland has never had a "general" election more entitled to this description. Save in Dublin University, there will be contests throughout the country. In every one of the other constituencies there have been nominated candidates both of the Government and the Republican Parties.

The polls will reveal the relative strengths of these parties in Clare and Kerry, as well as in Dublin. The nominations also foreshadow, in an unmistakable way, some of the political forces that are likely to have a permanent place in Irish Parliaments. The Farmers' movement is obviously nation-wide. They have their candidates in every constituency save those of Dublin City and of the the universities. Labour has also ventured upon a nation-wide appeal; it has its standard-bearers in all the constituencies save Monaghan and the universities.

Whether the business and commercial interests seeking representation through business and independent candidates will be a permanent factor—there is no question of the need of such representation—will depend upon the vitality shown by their organisations, and upon the value of the contributions they can make to public affairs. Nominations by each of the four main parties in virtually all the constituencies will assure, when the counting of the votes comes, that the number of their supporters throughout the country will be accurately known.

It has been questioned whether it was wise on the part of special sections of the community to press at this time for representation. But it is obvious that movements so important and wide-spread as those of the Farmers and Labour could not readily accept any suggestion that they should stand down. Whether timely or not, all parties have, in all the constituencies, deemed it wise to put forward their nominees and are pressing the electors for support.

It is fortunate for Ireland that in these circumstances proportional representation is being used. Proportional representation safeguards the major issues when votes are split on secondary matters. The Farmers' candidates support the Treaty without question, as do all the Business and most of the Independent candidates. Proportional representation does not complicate; it facilitates the free and intelligent use of the vote under such conditions.

It makes the elector's task easier than it would have been. When in England in the last election there was a splitting of votes the elector was in a great difficulty. Thus at Huddersfield. there were opposed to the Labour candidate, two Liberals—an Independent and a National Liberal. Those electors who desired to defeat Labour anxiously debated as to what they should do. Which of the two Liberal candidates had the better chance of defeating Labour? On one day they thought the National Liberal, on another day the Independent Liberal, and their opinions changed with every rumour that went through the town. The voter had to guess what it was best for him to do.

Wherever there is a splitting of votes the proportional representation system makes it easy for the elector to act. He need not hesitate; there is no guessing to be done. If he is for the Treaty, he can vote for the pro-Treaty candidate that he likes best without the slightest fear of his vote being wasted, provided that he continues to mark his choices among the other Government, Farmer, Business, and Independent candidates. The nominations are the outcome of live political and nation-wide movements that cannot be suppressed. Proportional representation is the antidote to the splitting of votes that they cause; it will safeguard the great pro-Treaty majority.

COUNTY CLARE.

A COMPLEX PROBLEM.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

ENNIS, Monday.

There are not a dozen persons in Clare to-day who would care to commit themselves to a serious forecast of the result of the election in this constituency. There are fifteen candidates for five seats and, roughly, 59,000 voters on the register. There are 20,000 organised workers in the county, say the Labour Party, and one is left to draw the natural, if innocent, conclusion that the return of the two Labour candidates is about the surest thing in this uncertain election.

One thinks, however, that there are several sides to an election question, and so one approaches the Farmers' Party. From the Farmers comes the suggestion that Labour's 20,000 might reasonably be narrowed down to 8,000. One also has the additional information that the only really organised body of voters in the constituency goes by the name of the Clare Farmers' Association. In the face of that the nomination of three candidates to represent such a strong and well organised interest does not appear an extravagant act. That would be all to the good if other interests were not seeking a share of the five seats for distribution.

"Our meetings on Sunday and Mr. de Valera's meeting on the previous Wednesday convince us that Clare is nearly solid behind us," declare the Sinn Fein election headquarters.

The Cumann na nGaedheal Election Committee, on the other hand, cannot be said to be behind hand with expressions of confidence in the prospects of their candidates.

All of the parties point out that, having their finger on the political pulse of the constituency, they are in a position to know what they talk about, and are in no wise overestimating their chances of success at the poll. Whether they themselves believe all they say is, of course, quite another matter. The fact remains that of the fifteen candidates nominated to contest the constituency ten must fall by the way. It is equally certain that of the five Cumann na nGaedheal candidates not more than three can possibly hope to be successful. The same is true in a less degree of their Republican opponents.

For some reason or other, the electorate generally see in Clare only the promise of a very keen contest between what must be called the two principal political forces in the State. The Farmers have turned down all suggestions of an accommodation with the Cumann na nGaedheal selection, which, it must be noted, includes three farmers. The farmers of the county are thus faced with the choice of voting for their own official candidates as against three members of their community who have been included in the Cumann na nGaedheal team. The bulk of those who form the Clare Farmers' Association will support the official candidates nominated by their association.

Nevertheless, Dr. MacNeill's meetings in the county do not give his party reason for undue despondency. Of the Republican Party's prospects one must say, now that several days have elapsed since Mr. de Valera's arrest, that it does not seem that the efforts of his party have lost much of their spirit and vigour. It is certain that his personal participation in the fray would have gained himself and his colleagues considerably more votes than his arrest could secure.

As to Labour, there seems no reason why the workers of the constituency should not find one seat of the five for one of their two candidates.

To the farmers I would not be prepared to concede more than two seats, and there are many in their organisation who will be content with one. Most people, however, foresee unexpected results from the poll in Clare and the most reasonable calculation seems liable to be upset.

CARLOW AND KILKENNY.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

KILKENNY, Monday.

The general opinion of politicians of experience here is that without a doubt President Cosgrave will be elected, and, in sporting parlance, both Mr. Gorey, one of the Farmers' candidates, and Mr. Shelly, Republican, will be "placed."

A reference to last year's election results in this constituency is of interest at present. The number of valid votes cast was 31,227. There were six candidates for four vacancies, and the quota was 6,246. In the first count Patrick Gaffney, the official labour candidate, who is now going forward as an Independent candidate, secured 10,875 votes, and headed the poll. Mr. Gaffney, although elected as official labour candidate, did not take the oath, and did not sit in the Dail, but what effect that may have on his present chance is a matter of conjecture.

Last year President Cosgrave received 7,071 votes in the first count, and was second in the final count. His seat this year, as intimated, is considered safe. Mr. Gorey received 6,122 votes on the first count last year, and was third on the list of elected candidates.

The extension of the franchise this year has increased the votes in Kilkenny by over 10,000—44,645, against 34,297. Of the total, 19,253 are women, 216 of whom are Local Government voters only, 863 being the total number of Local Government voters only, to be subtracted from the 44,645.

The increased number of votes in Carlow is about 4,000, and the total number of voters in the whole constituency is approximately 70,000.

The Cumann na nGaedheal Association has arranged as many as seven meetings in one evening. Feeling is very mixed in many parts of the counties, and this Herculean sweep to win votes for the Cumann na nGaedheal candidates is expected to strengthen the position of Messrs. John Francis Gibbons and Thomas Bolger, both farmers, whose friends are hopeful of their return.

The Farmers' Party is making a strong canvass, and conducting a vigorous campaign in support of Mr. Gorey and Mr. E. J. Broughan, the former of whom, it is said, has the better chance of success.

Mr. Michael Shelly, one of the Republican candidates, is Chairman of the Callan Town Commissioners. He was twice arrested by the British during the troubles of recent times, and was released on the signing of the Treaty. He is said to have a considerable following in the constituency. Mr. Michael Barry, the other Republican candidate, is brother of the late Mr. Kevin Barry. Mr. E. Doyle, agricultural worker, Ballon, is the Labour candidate.

I was informed to-day that the Republican Party are distributing their posters by car, owing to obstacles put in the way of despatching them through other channels. One of them stated that on Friday last their election agent's office in Carlow was raided by the military, and their property damaged, and also that their printer had been warned not to print any electioneering literature for them.

From what can be gathered, only a small minority in Carlow will vote Republican.

POLLING HOLIDAY.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT TO BE ISSUED.

Next Monday, polling day, will be a public holiday. Article 28 of the Constitution, amongst other things, provides that the day of the polling "shall be proclaimed a public holiday." There appears to be some doubt as to what "public holiday" exactly means, but it is understood that the Attorney-General will shortly issue a statement on the subject.

NATIONAL UNIVERSITY.

Miss Agnes O'Farrelly, in our advertising columns to-day, appeals for the support of the independent electors of the National University, on the ground that she stands for only one constituency, and advocates educational, not party, representation for the University.

CLARE CAMPAIGN.

ALL PARTIES ACTIVE.

DR. MacNEILL AND MR. DE VALERA.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

ENNIS, Monday.

Electioneering activity in Clare yesterday was vigorously maintained for the best part of fourteen hours. A big area of the county was toured by the different candidates, and close on thirty meetings were held throughout the constituency. Even while President Cosgrave was speaking in Ennis, Republican and Labour candidates were addressing meetings in the west of the county. No unusual incident marked the proceedings anywhere.

Speaking at a meeting in Lisdoonvarna in the evening, Dr. MacNeill said that during the past year the captured correspondence of Mr. de Valera showed that he was continually storming against the Republican doctrinaires and that he always had to give in to them. Again and again he insisted that the Republic could not be maintained, but he was forced to keep up the pretence of maintaining it. His gamble with the destiny of Ireland was treated with contempt—contempt by his military chiefs and by Miss MacSwiney. Boys and girls who were not in the know were encouraged to shout "Up de Valera," and to couple this catch-cry with "Up the Republic." They were not aware of Mr. de Valera's anxiety to get out of the Republican straight jacket that the incompetent doctrinaires had managed to fasten upon him.

Mr. O'Regan, another candidate, said that the Farmers' Party was like Leana McCree's dog, that went a bit of the road with everyone.

Mr. Hehir and one or two other candidates also spoke.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS.

More than a dozen meetings were held by the Republicans. The principal ones were at Kilkee and Lisdoonvarna.

Mr. Comyn, K.C., one of the candidates, apologised for the absence of Mr. de Valera. He had intended, he said, to be with them, and was only prevented from carrying out that intention by an outrage as great as that inflicted on the Hindoos at Amaitsar. The soldiers should not be blamed; they only carried out their orders. The meeting had not been proclaimed, and no warning was given that any such outrage would be committed by a Government supposed to be their protectors.

Mr. George Daly, a member of the Executive of Sinn Fein, said that it was thrown in their faces that they were not Republicans in 1916 or during the Black and Tan régime. Where was Professor MacNeill, he asked, when Mr. de Valera was at the head of his men in Boland's Mill in 1916?

OTHER MEETINGS.

Meetings were also held in support of the Republican candidates at Tulla, Crusheen, Ballinruan, Kilballyowen, Carrigaholt, Moveen, Doonaha, Corofin, Miltown-Malbay and Lahinch. The speakers were:—Messrs. T. V. Honan, Chairman, Ennis Urban Council; D. J. Shiel, T.C., Derry; Michael Comyn, K.C., and Miss Chambers.

The Farmers' Party was also active in that county, and meetings were held at Flagmount, Broadford, Sixmilebridge, Ballycorrick, Killdysart and Carrigaholt. The party's three candidates, Messrs. Hogan, Skehan and Ryan, spoke at all the meetings and were supported by Colonel O'Callaghan Westropp.

The tenor of their speeches was that agriculture was the principal industry of the country, they could not afford to entrust its interests to anyone but a body of farmers.

Successful meetings in support of Messrs. Hogan and McNamara, the two Labour candidates, were held in the west of the county. On their arrival in Kilrush the candidates were met by the local Transport Union band and six or seven hundred workers. Over a thousand had gathered for the meeting, which was addressed from a platform erected for the occasion.

The Labour Party's proposals for the solution of the housing, unemployment, and other problems were outlined by Mr. Hogan, who appealed to the small farmers to recognise that their interests were almost identical with those of Labour. The workers, he declared, had formed the spearhead of every class and national movement in the country, and it was up to them now to put all the strength and vigour forward that would enable them to have their own standard carried to victory.

Mr. McNamara, having drawn a comparison between the position of town workers and small tenant farmers, dealt in detail with the Labour Party's proposals for securing proper housing for the former in town and country.

The same speakers addressed large meetings afterwards in Kilkee, Lahinch, Quilty and Miltown-Malbay.

DUBLIN COUNTY.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

County Dublin, which stretches from Balbriggan to Bray, and has 97,167 electors, is, perhaps, the most important constituency in the Saorstat. Clare for the moment may be more in the news, and the situation in Kilkenny is interesting, but it is Dublin County that counts.

For its eight seats there are twenty-one candidates, including the six who represented it in the last Dail. Two of those are members of the Executive Council, one of them being Mr. Kevin O'Higgins.

An extensive tour of the constituency showed that there exists a general desire to support the present Government as the only road to stability and the maintenance of law and order, the security of person and of property.

After the securing of the Government comes the consideration of the representation of the business interests of the county, with a view to the strengthening of the Government.

From all the signs, the Minister for Home Affairs should easily head the poll. He is regarded by hard-headed business men, as well as by women, who remember the terrors of the nights of last winter, as the strong man of the Executive, who can be depended upon to crush the anarchy.

The Government have two other strong candidates in Mr. M. J. Derham and Mr. "Batt" O'Connor. North Dublin should give the former his seat. The other Cumann na nGaedheal men will probably have to make a hard fight to get in.

Mr. David Barry and Mr. John Good, standing to represent the business and commercial interests, not alone of Dublin, but of the Free State, are confident of success. Assurances of support and work are pouring into their Committee rooms in Dawson street. Their programme of outdoor meetings had to be abandoned because of the activities of the Bolshevist element in the city, but they will address meetings in the Town Halls of Kingstown, Blackrock and Rathmines, and at Sandymount on Saturday night.

The Farmers' Party has two strong candidates in Mr. John Rooney and Dr. Fitzsimon.

Mr. Tom Johnson, the banner-bearer for official Labour, has not had to face the threatened opposition of Mr. James Larkin in person, but Labour is hopelessly split in the county as well as in the city, and that will weaken his chances.

It is extremely hard to get to know anything about the chances of the five Independent candidates, with the exception of Major Bryan Cooper, who is going remarkably strong in the Southern half of the county. Apart from the enthusiastic backing of the former Unionists in the constituency, his personality will secure him many votes.

THE RAID ON 23 SUFFOLK STREET.

A communication issued to the Press last night from the Publicity Department of the Sinn Fein Organising Committee in reference to the raid on 23 Suffolk street, Dublin, last Saturday afternoon, denies the accuracy of the official report which was published yesterday. With regard to the suggestion that Mr. Eamonn Donnelly was arrested after certain documents had been found in his room, it is pointed out that the first man who entered the room handed Mr. Donnelly a note stating that he was being placed under arrest, and that it was not until after he had read the note and gone to an adjoining room that a raid was made for papers. It is further stated that owing to the raid several intending speakers at election meetings were kept late for their trains to the country, and that a number of important papers connected with election preparations are missing. As to the statement that plans for an attempted escape of prisoners and other documents showing that the premises were being utilised as a centre of communication by wanted persons were found, it is stated that every member of the Re-organising Committee and its staff repudiate all knowledge of any such plans or documents.

TREATY DEFENDED.

MR. MULCAHY AT BRAY.

A MALIGNANT ATTACK.

Mr. Mulcahy was the principal speaker last night at a series of meetings held in Bray, in support of the candidature of Mr. C. M. Byrne for Co. Wicklow.

Mr. J. M. Magee, who presided, asked their support on behalf of a Government candidate. Mr. Byrne had represented them in the Dail during the past twelve months, when a great amount of legislation had been passed for the good of the people. The Government had been accused of rushing legislation, but if it had not been passed they would now be blaming them.

Mr. C. M. Byrne said that when he was elected twelve months ago he made only one promise, and that was that he would stand behind Griffith and Collins. While they were alive he had stood by them, and then he stood behind their successors. They must realise that they could not enter on a period of reconstruction until the Government had restored peace and security of life and property. Only a strong Government could have done that, and only strong government would to-day be able to face the situation with which the country was confronted.

MR. MULCAHY.

Mr. Mulcahy, who was greeted with loud cheers, said that on Monday next they were going to elect a number of men and women as their representatives. Although the election of these representatives was a very serious national business, and also a very important business, the actual meaning of what was to be done on Monday was likely to be overlooked and misunderstood in the circumstances of the present time, because of the many misrepresentations of the political situation in Ireland, and because of the many social and economic troubles that affected the people at the present day. The men and women that they would elect were going to have extraordinary powers—powers that no Irish Government had ever had before. They were going to have absolute and supreme control over the material resources and wealth of Ireland. (Applause.) They were going to have power to use them as thinking representatives of the Irish people in any way that they thought they should be used for the benefit, happiness, and comfort of the people of this country. The men who would have to work the machinery of administration would have to make it suit the Irish character and Irish needs. Some people would tell them, or suggest to them, that the Treaty gave up rights and privileges that were the property of the Irish people. That was not so. They would tell them that the Treaty contained a formal link of dependence on England. That was not so. The Treaty contained a formal link with the British. It was not a link of dependence. It was a formal link of absolute equality. There was absolute equality between the Irish people and the English people embodied in the Treaty. There was absolute, supreme, and sovereign control over Irish affairs secured to them in the Constitution.

Thanks to magnificent bravery and sturdy fighting of the ordinary people throughout this country, who faced terrorism, destruction, and loss of all kinds, England had cleared out of the country, and had been satisfied with this formal link. When Collins and Griffith accepted that link they did so because they were great men, and did so because they saw that the acceptance of the link would, in fact, get the British out of the country. (Applause.)

They should not let people suggest that they had not control of their own affairs. When in practice the people found that they had not control, then would be the time to say it. The most malignant attack during the last twelve months had been that of trying to persuade the Irish people that, by accepting the national position that had been brought about and facing the responsibilities of it, they were turning their backs on those people whom they looked up to as the high priests of Irish nationality, and whose lives in the darkest days had been a source of strength and inspiration to them.

Every sensible man knew that it was not Tone's method, nor Emmett's method, nor the methods of Pearse and Terence MacSwiney, which left County Waterford without a railway running through it, and left Waterford cut off from Wexford by the destruction of the Taylorstown Viaduct, or that left a whole gap between Dungarvan and Mallow, with two large railway bridges down, or that left the wreckage of half a dozen trains lying along the lines. It was not Tone's, Emmett's, Pearse's, nor MacSwiney's methods which left the people with their railways hacked to bits for months, and that were only restored to their present working conditions by the great bravery and ceaseless energy of the young men of Ireland. (Applause.) In the face of the present political atmosphere it would require cold-minded, calm-thinking determined men to make clear decisions.

Mr. Daniel MacCarthy and Mr. S. Murphy also spoke.

COUNTY WATERFORD.

A "COSGRAVE GOVERNMENT" NECESSARY.

Dr. White, Mr. Michael Brennock, official candidates, and Alderman Connolly addressed a Cumann na nGaedheal meeting on Sunday at Killea, County Waterford. There was some heckling on the subject of the Flogging Act.

Dr. White, in reply, said that he would be sorry to learn that there was anyone present in whose case it would be necessary to enforce the Flogging Act. It was urged at this and other county meetings that the Flogging Act did not apply to political prisoners, but to armed robbers.

Welcoming General Mulcahy and other speakers at Kilmacthomas on Sunday, the Rev. Father O'Donnell, parish priest, who presided, said that anybody with common-sense and honest judgment, no matter what his individual opinion might be, must admit that the only way to ensure peace and security in this country was to return a Cosgrave Government.

At Tramore on Sunday night, General Mulcahy was accorded an enthusiastic reception. The speakers were the same as those who addressed the meeting at Waterford earlier in the day.

Meetings were addressed on Sunday by Captain Redmond at Lismore, Tallow, Cappoquin and Dungarvan. Captain Redmond was warmly received at each meeting.

On Saturday he addressed meetings in Dunmore East and Passage, and received numerous promises of support.

LIVELY REPUBLICAN MEETING

Messrs. O'Gorman, Slattery, and Bergin addressed a large Republican meeting at Ballina, Killaloe, after Mass on Sunday. They exhorted all to vote for the Republican candidates, who were "out" for the unity of Ireland and the release of the prisoners. They also cautioned the people against voting for Mr. Johnson's nominees, and asked them to vote for Mr. Gleeson, who was a true Republican, and would not take any oath of allegiance.

Whilst Mr. Slattery was speaking the Rev. Father Noonan, P.P., Ballina, arrived.

Mr. Slattery was telling about the Governor-General, and saying that he was in receipt of £38,000 for betraying Ireland.

Rev. Father Noonan—What is your authority for stating that he has a salary of £38,000 annually?

Mr. Slattery—He has £10,000 a year salary, and £28,000 for the upkeep of the Viceregal Lodge to entertain his English friends.

Rev. Father Noonan—Quite a small salary for his profession.

Voices—"For being a traitor."

Rev. Father Noonan—He is no traitor.

There was a considerable uproar, and Mr. Slattery asked any of those who were in favour of Mr. Healy to put up their hands.

A simultaneous burst of groaning followed, and then three cheers were raised for Mr. De Valera.

Rev. Father Noonan—How can you get a Republic?

Mr. Slattery—By your ceasing your British activities and becoming a Sinn Feiner, as all your parishioners are.

Mr. Slattery then went on to speak of the Freemasonry constitution of the Senate. The Chairman, Lord Glenavy, he said, was a Freemason and an Orangeman.

Rev. Father Noonan—He is a better Irishman than you are.

Groans followed this remark, and continued for several seconds.

LABOUR PARTY MEETINGS IN COUNTY DUBLIN.

Meetings in support of Messrs. T. Johnson and B. Kavanagh, Labour candidates for Co. Dublin, were held in Shankill and Loughlinstown last night, and were addressed by Messrs. Kavanagh, A. J. Cassidy, W. Hegarty, and J. Byrne.

RIVIERA FOREST FIRE SUBDUED.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT 25,000,000 FRANCS.

WIDE AREA DESOLATED.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

The fires in the Esterel have now been finally overcome, although when all the danger seemed to have passed a fresh breeze sprang up in the early hours of the morning, and the flames, fanned into activity, advanced along the slopes of the Frejus, over a front of some miles. The forest-covered mountain range of Malpey became involved, and many villages and hamlets were threatened.

However, messages received this evening state that the mistral has ceased to blow, that the conflagration has everywhere been extinguished, and the danger is now over.

The first estimates of the danger have proved to be insufficient. In the regions round Mandelieu and Thermes alone over 4,000,000 francs worth of forest land has been destroyed, apart from private property.

Most of the houses in the villages of Agay and Stayguife were burnt to the ground by the new outbreak in the early hours of this morning. Among these was the villa of M. Franklin-Bouillon, the well-known diplomat.

A suggestion is made in a despatch from Toulon that the catastrophe was started deliberately by some vagabonds, but the cause of the disaster has not yet been officially investigated.

FREJUSA, Monday.

This morning the forest fires seemed to be everywhere under control, but the inhabitants of this district are aghast at the extent of the damage which, according to the first very rough estimate, is believed to amount to as much as twenty-five or thirty million francs.

DRAGIUGNAN, VAR, Monday.

The forest fires have abated owing to the mistrals no longer blowing. Unfortunately, huge tracts of forest have been destroyed, including the magnificent woods of La Gaillarde. The flames spread from the Massif des Maures, where the conflagration started, towards the sea, which alone stopped them, and even seaweed on the beach was burnt.

MOTOR COACH IN RIVER.

AMERICAN TOURISTS KILLED.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

Another terrible motoring accident is reported here to-night. A motor coach, belonging to the Temple Tours, Ltd., 9 Place de la Madeleine, Paris, and containing 19 tourists (mostly Americans), while following the famous Route des Alpes, fell over a steep embankment into the River Var, 1½ miles from Guillaumes, 40 miles north-west of Nice.

So far reported, there are six dead and thirteen gravely injured. The chauffeur, an American, named Mellor, has telegraphed to his parents in Paris that he is safe.

The victims have not yet been identified.

STEERING GEAR FAILS.

A telegram from Nice on Monday states:—It appears that the steering gear failed to act when the vehicle was negotiating a sharp bend above the river bed. The char-a-banc fell from a height of some fifteen feet into the ravine. The conductor of the char-a-banc, Louis Ballarino, succumbed to his injuries at the Guillaumes Hospital. The driver is suffering from serious injuries.

According to later details, the vehicle was carrying twenty-two American tourists. About ten o'clock this morning it suddenly dashed off the road and fell into the ravine through which the Var flows. The heavy vehicle bumped and bounded from boulder to boulder, until it finally crashed to pieces at the bottom. Six persons were killed and fifteen injured, only one occupant of the char-a-banc being unhurt. Ambulance cars were sent for from here.

PROHIBITION IN TURKEY.

"EARLY REPEAL CERTAIN."

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Monday.

The prohibition experiment in Turkey is a complete failure. This is the opinion of a majority of the members of the newly-elected Grand National Assembly at Angora. The early repeal of the prohibition law is certain.

There is at present talk of adopting some of the restrictions in use in Scandinavian countries for controling the liquor trade.

Several newspapers, which formerly championed the prohibition cause, now consider that "prohibition means drinking bad quality liquor at a higher cost, and giving bootleggers revenue due to the Government."

In some circles the creation of a liquor monopoly in favour of war cripples is advocated.

SEASIDE HOTEL FIRE.

EIGHT DEAD AND EIGHT MISSING.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

TORONTO, Monday.

Eight persons are known to be dead, and eight more are missing, as a result of the burning last night of the Hotel Wana, at Norway Point. The Hotel Wana was a popular summer hostelry, and was crowded with 150 holiday-makers. Miss Marguerite Bowker, daughter of the Toronto Manager of the Canadian National Railways, is among the victims. Many visiting Americans were included in the list of guests.

"BIRTH OF A NATION" FILM BANNED.

CONFLICT WITH FRENCH COLOUR VIEWS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, August 20.

"The Birth of a Nation," the film which sets forth in no uncertain terms the American problem of the assimilation of the negro, has had its Paris showing stopped. The Prefecture of Police took action to that effect yesterday.

The reason for the suppression is seen in the recent reaction against the American "colour line" doctrine, which has had its airing in the Paris courts, and has been the subject of an official Note from the Quai D'Orsay.

This was enough to make the Prefecture opposed to any exhibition which might produce further incidents.

In France a negro is anybody's equal. In many parts of America he is not considered as such. Frequent clashes between American tourists and French coloured citizens from the Colonies have arisen over this conflict of views.

JAILS TO BE EMPTIED.

THE RUSSIAN WAY WITH POLITICAL PRISONERS.

RIGA, Monday.

It is reported here from Moscow that, owing to the excessive number of political prisoners, a special Commission of the Tcheka has decided to clear the prisons, both on the ground of economy and for political considerations.

The most dangerous prisoners, from the Soviet standpoint, will be sent to hard labour in Siberian jails, while the less dangerous will be exiled to remote parts of Russia.—(Reuter.)

TIDAL WAVE DEVASTATION.

TOKIO, Monday.

A Seoul telegram states that in a recent storm and tidal wave on the North-West Coast of Korea, 346 persons were killed, while over a thousand are reported missing. Extensive damage was done to houses and property.—(Reuter.)

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

THE TOLL OF THE MOTOR.

RULES AND RISKS OF THE ROAD.

In a leading article upon the question of the dangers caused by any kind of reckless and selfish driving, The Times observes:—The toll of motor accidents in Great Britain is already a serious matter. In the immediate future, unless rigorous preventive steps are speedily taken, the number of deaths and accidents will rise still more rapidly. In spite of the widening of main thoroughfares and the construction of by-pass roads now in hand, the volume of traffic, with the consequent congestion on roads of all classes, becomes each season more difficult to provide for and to control. It is only by slow degrees, if ever, that it will be possible for the country to equip itself with sufficient road surface to carry without inconvenience the millions of mechanically-driven wheels that are even now in existence. Some day, perhaps, the air may provide a certain amount of relief; but, in the meantime, the Frankenstein monster of motor traffic, which has conferred so many and such great benefits on the community, is becoming a serious menace to the life and limbs of the race which has invented it.

The main source of danger is not fast, but reckless, driving, especially on country roads. The class of driver who is determined to get on at all costs; the man or woman who is continually trying to pass the vehicle immediately in front of him, not only at a bend in the road, but where it is narrow or crowded, is the cause of nearly all the accidents that occur. It may seem absurd that anyone should be able to secure a driving licence by the payment of what is in effect merely a small tax and without any preliminary test of his driving capabilities or physical fitness. Apart altogether from the question of whether a driving test is, or is not, advisable, it seems to us that the really effective method of dealing with the prevalence of accidents would be to punish with the utmost severity anyone convicted of dangerous driving, whether it is due to incompetence, to ignorance, to physical disability or to selfish recklessness.

THE FRENCH REPLY.

TO BE DELIVERED TO-DAY.

The Times Paris Correspondent states, in a message last night:—It has now been decided to transmit the French reply to the British Note through the British Embassy in Paris. Mr. Eric Phipps, who, in the absence of Lord Crewe is the chief British representative here, expects to receive the document to-morrow morning. It will be sent to London as speedily as possible, and I understand that it will also be sent to Lord Curzon at Bagnolles de L'Orne.

It is stated that the Belgian Ministers have approved—or, at any rate, have raised no objection either to the manner or the matter—of the Poincaré reply, and it is assumed here that, although the Belgian Note will be shorter, and will deal with special points, it will correspond in essentials to the French Note. The Belgian reply is not expected until a day or two after the delivery of the French Note. Although the cancellation by France of money owing to her by Rumania and other Allies, together even with the cancellation of the war debts of Russia, has been spoken of as a possible policy, no proposals of this kind will be worked out in detail in the Note. It must not be expected that any complete solution of the reparations problem will be put forward, and it will be rather the elements of a plan than an elaborated plan which will be suggested. The Note is extremely long.

CENTRAL AUSTRALIA.

A RICH AGRICULTURAL COUNTRY.

The Times Adelaide Correspondent states that Sir Tom Bridge's recent motoring expedition across the Australian Continent seems to have been undertaken in a spirit of adventure with admirable results. The cars travelled a distance of nearly 1,500 miles beyond the railway. The route led along the bed of the Finke River and through towering gorges, a journey which would have been impossible in the rainy season.

The Premier confesses that the character of this vast territory exceeds his expectations. Most of the land is suitable for pastoral purposes. Much of it is splendidly agricultural soil. In between the wonderful MacDonnell Ranges are rich alluvial plains, so level that they might have been meant specially for irrigation schemes. Water can be obtained within a foot of the surface. The plains are excellently grassed, carrying a vigorous growth of salt bush and other kinds of herbage. The Premier recalls that he has heard it stated in Melbourne that all the country south of the MacDonnell Ranges is desert. He is now in a position to contradict that. There is no such thing as a desert in Central Australia.

THE IRISH ELECTIONS.

NEW PHASE IN IRISH HISTORY.

The Daily Chronicle says:—Irish political history is entering upon a new phase. It may be taken as certain that no one party or group will secure an independent majority, and that a Coalition of some sort must necessarily emerge. What its character will be no Irishman can as yet foresee. But every sign points to the fact that its new problems will be political and social rather than distractingly military, and that Southern Ireland at last will have a chance to justify its new status to the world.

LONDON DOCKS STRIKE.

The Westminster Gazette, referring to the London Docks strike, says:—The strike would almost certainly have ended long ago but for the relief which the Bermondsey and Poplar Boards of Guardians have granted to the strikers out of the rates. There does not seem to be any doubt that the law really forbids the giving of such relief, but if nothing can be done to stop it until the audit of the Guardians' accounts become due, or until some private ratepayer takes proceedings in the courts, it is difficult to see how in such cases the law can be enforced in time.

THE DUTCH GERMAN FRONTIER.

The Maastricht (Belgian-Dutch Frontier) Correspondent of the Daily Mail telegraphs yesterday:—In view of probable incidents along the Germano-Dutch frontier Dutch troops have been sent to the frontier, and the Frontier Guards have been increased. Hordes of Germans are buying up all the availalbe foodstuffs in Dutch frontier towns.

JURY DISAGREES IN DUBLIN TRIAL.

Mr. Justice Pim resumed the business of the Dublin City Commission yesterday.

James O'Neill was indicted for having, on 3rd March, 1922, with another, being armed with revolvers, assaulted Thomas Brownell and Roger O'Donoghue, and with the larceny of £50 10s., the property of the Ministry of Labour. The prisoner, who pleaded not guilty, was defended by Messrs. P. Lynch, K.C., and Joseph O'Connor (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Son). Mr. W. Carrigan, K.C.; Mr. Dudley White, K.C., and Mr. Sainsbury (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted.

The jury failed to agree, and the prisoner was again remanded in custody.

AMERICA CUP CHALLENGE.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Sir Thomas Lipton, who arrived here on the Cedric, will challenge for the America Cup with his Shamrock, the race to be sailed in 1925. "I have in my cabinet the finest cups in all England," Sir Thomas said, "yet I would surrender all if I could lift the America Cup, which has been in this country for seventy years."—(Reuter.)

FRENCH NOTE.

REPLY EXPECTED IN LONDON TO-DAY.

A LENGTHY DOCUMENT.

FROM OUR DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Monday.

The Poincaré Note is expected in London to-morrow. Nothing is known of its contents, but there is little reason to suppose it will advance matters far.

There appears to be a general impression that it will be lengthy—according to some reports, double the length of the Curzon Note, to which it is an answer—argumentative, and unconstructive.

Some new precision as to the conditions under which the French would administer the Ruhr in the event of official passive resistance ceasing is possible; but it cannot be said that hopes in responsible quarters in London run very high.

As to the next step to be taken by the British Government, it is obviously premature to discuss that. It must depend on the tenor of M. Poincaré's observations.

The Cabinet will find it hard enough to take definite conclusions when the moment for action comes. Its members were far from inclined to impose on themselves the gratuitous labour of evolving a contingent policy before they dispersed for their holidays.

BIG STRIKE IN CORK.

THOUSANDS IDLE.

Cork's thousands of unemployed were considerably augmented yesterday when, owing to the failure of the conference to settle a Labour dispute, thousands of men and women refrained from resuming work.

The unions, which are affected are the Transport, Distributive Workers', and Grocers' and Allied Trades The Employers' Federation demanded a reduction of 20 per cent in wages and the control of their business without interference from outside sources.

The "cut" was to have come into force yesterday, but the employers, at the Government's request, postponed their demands until the beginning of September. The unions however, decided not to resume work.

THE DUBLIN DOCK STRIKE.

With the exception of steamers which were discharged by permission of the Strike Committee at the Custom House and City quays, there was little shipping activity along the Liffey yesterday.

An Irish Times representative was informed at the Ministry of Industry and Commerce that a meeting of the Committee of Eight which was appointed by the National Conference has been called for 3 o'clock to-morrow at Government Buildings.

SPAIN'S LITTLE WAR.

CAMPAIGN IN MOROCCO TO BE INTENSIFIED.

MADRID, Monday.

General Weyler has now returned from Morocco, where he went to investigate the military position. He is understood to be pessimistic regarding the situation.

The Premier and his colleagues are now in Madrid, and have held a meeting at which they agreed upon the adoption of all the measures of a military nature called for by the abnormal situation in the Melilla zone. The Minister of the Interior declares that the situation is not serious, though it requires the Government's whole attention.—(Reuter.)

EMPIRE PREFERENCE.

NEW ZEALAND'S ENTHUSIASM.

WELLINGTON, NEW ZEALAND, Monday.

The Wellington Chamber of Commerce today gave a banquet in honour of Mr. Massey, the Premier, in view of his departure to the Premier's Conference.

Mr. J. Myers, President of the Chamber, speaking on the subject of preference, emphasised the distance of New Zealand from Great Britain, and suggested that the handicap could be overcome by preference outweighing the difference in freights, as from Argentina and Denmark, and he assured Mr. Massey that the country would be behind him in any action that he might take at the Conference.

Mr. Massey emphasised the increasing importance of the Dominions as customers of Great Britain which, he said, were largely replacing Europe in that respect. Great Britain could find greater markets within the Empire than Europe had ever offered. Preference would work wonders.

He hoped, however, that the question would escape becoming a party cry. He fully realised the difficulties in the way, but hoped a solution would be found.

Mr. Elmslie, the British Trade Commissioner, said that preference by great Britain presented extraordinary difficulties, especially as regarded the risk of a tariff war against her by European countries, and the loss of their trade. The Dominions trade with Great Britain would need to increase three times to replace these old markets, and before this could be done the Dominions population must be greatly increased.

He also emphasised that four hundred millions of British capital were invested in the Argentine.—(Reuter.)

MURDER IN CORK.

CARETAKER FOUND SHOT.

A MYSTERIOUS CRIME.

Yesterday afternoon a shocking affair was reported from Kerry Pike, in the Blarney district of Cork. Mr. Eben Pike, a well-known railway and shipping director, formerly lived there, but his residence was burned down during the "Black-and-Tan" régime. The gardens and grounds since that time had been under the care of a young man named Greiber.

During Sunday night some shots were heard, and yesterday morning Greiber's body was found with a bullet wound in the heart. His cap was pulled down over his eyes.

Greiber was a young man, whose family had been employed for a number of years by Mr. Pike. He never took part in politics.

The inquest has been fixed for three o'clock to-day.

MAN SHOT IN COUNTY TIPPERARY.

KILLED NEAR HIS OWN HOME.

A mysterious affair occurred at Rossmore, near Dundrum, County Tipperary, on Friday night, when a man named William English was shot in the stomach. He died on Saturday.

English, who was aged thirty-four, had recently returned home on a holiday in America. The general opinion seems to be that he was shot by accident, and the Coroner's jury's verdict was that the shooting was "accidental."

No evidence was produced at the inquest to point to the origin of the affair, and nothing definite can be stated.

The inquest was held yesterday evening at Rossmore Post Office, the residence of James Carew, a brother-in-law of the deceased man.

Patrick English, Rossmore, deposed that on Friday night at about a quarter past ten he was in company with the deceased man.

"I was coming from a friend's house, said the witness, and I met him going in at his own gate. He said—'I'll walk back with you, Paddy.' We stopped at about ten yards from the gate. I was facing down the road, and he was facing in the opposite direction. A shot rang out, and I wheeled and threw myself on the ground, and then another shot was fired, and the deceased man cried out—'Paddy, I'm shot.' He was standing at the time that he said this, but he fell headlong into the dyke.

James Carew, brother-in-law, deposed that at about 10.30 on Friday night shots were fired. He got out of bed and heard someone calling. He went to the window and heard Patrick English shouting—"Jim, get up, Willie is shot." When witness went out he saw some persons carrying the deceased man in their arms. He was brought into the house.

Civic Guard J. Cúneen, Rossmore, deposed that he was on duty on Friday night about four hundred yards away from the scene. He heard the shots, and went to Mr. Carew's house, where he found William English.

Dr. D. McCormack, Dundrum, said that English was shot through the liver. Death was due to shock and hemorrhage from the wound.

The jury found that deceased died from shock and hemorrhage, caused by a bullet wound accidentally received. They tendered sympathy to the relatives of the deceased.

HOUSE SET ON FIRE.

OUTRAGE BY ARMED GANG.

A sensational occurrence was reported from Dunmore, Co. Waterford. It is alleged that between one and two o'clock on Saturday morning the house of Peter Roche, a Transport official, was entered by a number of men, some of whom had revolvers. A knock was heard at the door, and in reply to a question by Roche as to who was there, the answer was "Military."

When Roche opened the door he was seized by two men, and forced back to a bedroom. He was then ordered to put on his clothes. His wife was also ordered to dress. Both were then told to leave the house, and the furniture was sprinkled with petrol and set on fire. The raiders then left. After their departure the Roches, with the assistance of neighbours, succeeded in saving the house, but the furniture was destroyed.

YOUNG WOMAN SHOT.

INQUEST ADJOURNED.

The inquest on Miss Abina Murphy, who was shot on Saturday night in the Blackpool district of Cork, was adjourned yesterday evening until Friday to permit of a post mortem examination.

Miss Murphy, who was a shirtmaker, aged 33, was returning home at 10.30, when an attack was made on a military officer. Several shots were fired, and she was struck by a bullet in the abdomen. She was operated on at the North Infirmary, but died on Sunday evening.

BIG MILITARY PARADE.

MARCH THROUGH DUBLIN.

The Griffith-Collins commemoration period will be brought to a close to-morrow—the first anniversary of the death of General Michael Collins—with the holding of the first Army Bothar Buadha parade.

Units from all Commands will travel to Dublin to take part in the parade, and every Corps and Service in the Army will be represented. Several of the best military bands will be in attendance, while a feature of the parade will be the units from Corps, including Artillery, Engineers, Mounted Services, and Army Air Service.

To-day the detachments of troops arriving in the city from the various Commands will be accommodated under canvas at the Phœnix Park.

The parade to-morrow will be preceded by the ceremony of the blessing of the Army Flag at noon in the Phœnix Park, in the presence of a full dress parade of troops and distinguished visitors. When the ceremony of blessing has been completed the Flag will be presented by the President to the Chief of General Staff.

On the handing over of the Flag to a specially picked escort, the troops will move off on the Bothar Buadha parade, the separate units falling into line. The Flag will be carried at the head of the parade, and the route will be:—

Island Bridge gate,
Kilmainham,
South Circular road,
Harcourt street,
Stephen's Green, North,
Merrion street,
Westland row,
Pearse street,
D'Olier street,
O'Connell street,
North Frederick street,
Berkeley road,
North Circular road,
Phœnix Park.

The troops will leave the Phœnix Park about noon, reaching the centre of the city by 1 p.m.

On the return to the parade ground in the Phœnix Park, the general salute having been sounded and military honours rendered, the Flag will be removed off parade, and deposited in the sanctuary of the Church at the Hibernian Military Schools. The troops will then be dismissed.

Similar parades (but without presentation of the Flag) are being held to-morrow in Cork, Limerick, Waterford, Athlone, Galway, Tralee and Sligo.

The police authorities in the Order for the Day have instructed all police along the route to honour the Flag as the parade passes.

KILLED BY PATROL.

THE DEATH OF MRS. DOOLY.

INQUEST AT BIRR.

At an inquest at Birr on Sunday on Mrs. Susan Dooly, Roscrea, who was shot while motoring with her husband and friends from Dublin to Roscrea on Friday night, the jury returned a verdict that death was due to shock and hemorrhage, caused by a bullet fired by a military patrol.

Mr. W. Dwyer appeared for Mr. Dooly, and Mr. A. C. Houlihan represented the military authorities.

Mr. Thomas Dooly deposed that he was driving the car when the shooting occurred. Nothing had occurred from the time they left Dublin until they reached Coolesball.

At Coolesball there is a very nasty turn. He came round the corner slowly, and as he did so his lights showed four soldiers—three with rifles at the ready and one with a revolver in his hand—on the footpath beside the ditch.

"I was about 30 or 40 yards away when I first saw them. I knew at once they were military, and I put my foot on the brake. I slowed the car still more, so that it was barely moving—practically at a standstill—when I came to the soldier with a revolver in his hand, as I assumed he was the man in control and I was going to him. I pulled over to get beside him. He was standing on the footpath, or he may have been standing on the road just off the footpath. I was so close to him that he would have had no difficulty in pulling me out of the car if he wanted to do so.

"The hood was up, so I stooped down and looked out at him, and he said to me: 'All right. Go on.' I said: 'Thank you. Good night,' or 'Good night, thank you.' I then put my foot on the accelerator of the car. The soldier said nothing to me or made no objection. He never said halt or anything, although he was beside me.

"The car moved forward, but when it had gone about the length of itself four or five shots rang out—I cannot say which—in quick succession. Then Mrs. Dooly shouted."

Witness said he immediately pulled up the car, and the soldier with the revolver came round to the front of the car. Mrs. Dooly had fallen in a faint into her brother's arms. The soldier with the revolver began to argue about why the car had not been stopped when he called "Halt!". "Although he was standing beside the car he never called 'Halt!' to me," declared witness. "He did not hold up his hand to stop. I said to him: 'This is no time to argue; there is a precious life in the car,' and that I had to go at once for medical assistance. I jumped into the car and cleared, whether they liked it or not.

Witness drove as quickly as he could and got Mrs. Dooly upstairs, while Mr. Treanor went for the doctor. Mrs. Dooly died in about two hours.

Mr. Robert A. Acres, Roscrea, brother of the deceased, gave corroborative evidence.

EXCITED SOLDIER.

Mr. Frederick Treanor, Roscrea, said that he took it that Mr. Dooley had been recognised by the party when he leaned out. The car then moved forward. About four rifle shots rang out.

The soldier who had the revolver came up in a very excited state, repeating, "Why did you not stop when we halted you? You were halted seven times." Witness said he heard only one call of "Halt."

"The soldier with the revolver did not wish to let us go, and kept saying 'Why did you not halt?' I said, 'We must get away: the case is very serious. We do not wish to run away. Have you not bicycles? Cannot one of your men come in front of us on a bicycle?' I had seen bicycles with them.

"I protested that the case was too urgent for any delay. Mr. Dooley and Mr. Acres, most of the time while this was going on, were engaged with Mrs. Dooley."

MEDICAL EVIDENCE.

Dr. Joseph Wallace, Roscrea, gave evidence that he was called to see Mrs. Dooly at about 12 o'clock that night. When he saw her she was in her bedroom, lying on her bed. She complained of pain in her right leg. On examination he found a wound on the inner side of the right thigh. It was bleeding. He found a smaller wound on the right side of the lower part of the back, about two inches from the spine. The wound on the back he believed was the inlet wound of a bullet, and the one on her thigh the outlet.

In a short time he realised that she was beyond medical aid. In his opinion, death was due to shock and hemorrhage, the result of a bullet wound.

Captain Pierce Wall, National Army, Roscrea, gave evidence that on the night of the 16th August, at 11.15 o'clock, he sent out a cycle patrol, composed of Sergeant John Carroll and Volunteers Sullivan and Cullerton. He gave them instructions to go out the Borris-in-Ossory (Dublin to Roscrea) road, and to "hold up" and search all vehicles and pedestrians. He gave no definite instructions about firing, as the leader of the patrol generally gives such instructions. The general instructions are to fire after "halt" has been called three times.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dwyer, witness said that he inspected the patrol before it went out, and was certain it consisted of a sergeant and two men. He sent three patrols out that night.

Mr. Dwyer said that he understood that the members of the patrol were under arrest, and, if so, they could not be examined.

Mr. Houlihan said that the men could be examined if they wished, and the Coroner decided to accept their evidence.

SERGEANT'S EVIDENCE.

Sergeant John Carroll having been duly cautioned elected to give evidence, and deposed that on the night of the shooting he was detailed by Captain Wall to take charge of a cycle patrol, consisting of himself and Volunteers Cullerton and Sullivan. Their orders were to patrol the Borris-in-Ossory road. When about two miles out, at about 11.45 p.m., he saw in the distance the lights of a motor car approaching, and he then ordered his men to dismount and to take up positions on each side of the road.

He took the central position on the road. When the car came to within ninety or one hundred yards he first "halted" it. He "halted" it in all seven times before it reached where he was standing, and he then had to jump out of its way.

As the car was passing me I "halted" it again, and the answer I got was, "Good-bye." Somebody in the car waved his hand. The car still kept going on. I then fired a revolver shot in the air to get the car to halt. I only had a revolver. The car still kept going on. I then lowered my revolver and fired at the car. The car had passed me about ten yards when I fired in the air, and it had gone about sixty yards when I lowered my revolver and fired at the car.

Immediately I fired the second shot the men with me fired their rifles at the car, in accordance with the instructions I gave them going out. Three shots entirely were fired at the car. The car then stopped. It was one hundred yards from us when it stopped. I ran up to investigate, and found that Mrs. Dooly was shot.

I did not even know the parties, or who they were when their names were told to me, as I am but a short time here. I asked Mr. Dooly why he did not halt the car, and he said that he thought it was alright. I heard one of the occupants of the car, the man with the spectacles (looking towards Mr. Treanor) say that Mr. Dooly was not capable of driving the car.

Mr. Treanor here rose, and said—"I protest against that."

Witness, continuing, said:—I said to Mr. Treanor—"What is that you said?" The men got into the car then. I had some words with Mr. Dooly and the car went on.

At the Battalion Headquarters he reported the matter to Lieutenant McEvoy, and next morning he reported to Captain Wall."

Volunteer James Sullivan corroborated the evidence of Sergeant Carroll.

Mr. Treanor, recalled, stated that when he recognised the extreme urgency of the case, after he had found that Mrs. Dooly had been shot, he said to the sergeant that it was no time for arguing, and that they must get medical assistance, and that owing to what had occurred Mr. Dooly was now scarcely capable of getting home. It was atrocious to suggest that he (Mr. Treanor) ever stated what the sergeant's evidence would imply.

SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

The Coroner here stated that he thought the jury had sufficient evidence to arrive at a verdict.

Mr. Dwyer, addressing the jury, said that it was an extraordinary case, and that the truth could not be on both sides. It mattered very little to Mr. Dooly, now that his wife

BELFAST HOUSING SCHEME.

ARRANGEMENT WITH THE GOVERNMENT.

TENANTS TO BECOME OWNERS.

The Belfast Corporation, at a special meeting yesterday, had under consideration the question of the subsidy towards housing as affected by the recent financial arrangement with the Northern Government.

The matter arose on the minutes of a special meeting of the Housing Committee, held on 15th inst. It was stated in the report:—

The Chairman reminded the committee of the negotiations which had taken place between the Ministries of Finance and Home Affairs and the Corporation's representatives regarding the housing subsidy, and the attitude which the Corporation had taken up—namely, that while they did not anticipate any loss on their subsidised housing scheme, if the subsidy were continued as arranged by the Imperial Parliament, they were prepared to consider a commutation of the subsidy on the basis of twelve years' purchase. This had not been agreed to by the Ministries, who had, at the interview in June last, offered the sum of £150,000 in commutation of the subsidy payable under the financial regulations framed in accordance with Section 5 of the Housing (Ireland) Act, 1919. This offer the Corporation's representatives had declined to consider, but recently, however, the Prime Minister had moved in the matter, with the result that another conference had taken place on the 14th inst. at the offices of the Ministry of Finance.

After a very full and free exchange of views on the question, the Prime Minister finally intimated that the Government would be prepared to pay to the Corporation £227,500 in commutation of the Exchequer subsidy in respect of the period commencing 1st April, 1923, in addition to the subsidy to be claimed by them in the ordinary course for the year ended 31st March, 1923.

The Corporation's representatives recommended that this offer be accepted.

The City Accountant reported as to the prices at which the houses could be sold, after allowing for the application of the commuted sum now offered by the Government.

It was resolved that the Council be recommended to adopt the recommendation above referred to by accepting the offer made by the Government.

THE TWO SCHEMES.

Alderman Sir Crawford M'Cullagh, in moving the adoption of the report, said that their housing scheme might be divided into two parts, one of which was known as the housing scheme under the 1919 Act, and the other was the one they were working at at present, which was being dealt with by assisted grants from the Government. Under that scheme they built 469 houses at a cost of £446,400. Those houses were all occupied by ex-Servicemen, and it was felt by the Corporation that instead of going on renting those houses with the Government paying the subsidy, an attempt should be made to see if the Government would not commute the weekly payment and allow the Corporation to sell the houses to the tenants, because by selling them the Corporation could give the tenants better terms. As far as the Northern Parliament were concerned, there had been no trouble with regard to the payment. He was glad to state they arrived at a settlement, which was that the Government were to pay their liability of £227,500 at the end of this financial year. That meant that the Corporation could now sell the houses to the occupiers, and their weekly payments would be less than at the present, and the houses would become the property of the people occupying. The houses they had divided into two lots, the living-room type, built principally on the Rosebery road, and the parlour houses, of various types, which were let at a rent of from 17s. to 22s. per week. Dealing with the parlour houses, Sir Crawford said they had been erected at a cost of, roughly, from £865 to £1,300, and were being let at rents varying in price from 22s. to 17s. The cost of the 17s. weekly house would be £450, and the weekly payment, under the same conditions, would be 15s., and at the end of 40 years would become the property of the tenant. There was nothing to prevent tenants from paying the full money down. Coming to the living-room type of houses in Roseberry road, the actual cost of the houses was £800. The prices would range from £300 and £310, and a few with larger ground areas £340. They must, however, take £310 as the principal price. The man who was now paying 13s. 6d. would make a weekly payment of 11s. 3d. Then, assuming some of the tenants wished to buy their houses, but had not the 10 per cent.—that the policy of the Committee would be to offer the houses first to the people who were occupying them (hear, hear)—he was glad to say they had arrived at a plan, through Mr. Geale and the town solicitor, whereby the tenant would pay £10 down. The Committee were firm that in all cases they should put something down, and £10 was very little to ask if a man wanted to own his house. (Hear, hear.) If he put down £10 his payments would be spread over 35 years; and instead of 11s. 3d. he would be paying 12s. a week; for 18s. 3d. they would pay 19s. 10d., and be buying out the house, as against 22s. In a very short time those houses would become of great value, and a good asset if the individual wished to dispose of them.

Councillor Henderson said the citizens should be very grateful to Sir Crawford M'Cullagh, Alderman M'Connell, and Sir William Coates for the way in which they had handled this important housing question.

The resolution approving of the scheme was adopted.

CARNIVAL "COLLECTORS."

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST TWO DUBLIN MEN.

On a charge of obtaining money by false pretences, Sydney Farrelly, 12 McMahon street, and Thomas Walsh, 27 Temple street, were remanded until Wednesday in the Dublin Police Court yesterday. The defendants were alleged to have collected various sums by representing that they were authorised by the authorities of the City of Dublin Skin and Cancer Hospital to collect money for the White City Carnival.

James O'Neill, publican, 24-25 Upper Camden street, stated that about two or three months ago two men called at his place of business. One of them was introduced as a Dr. Walsh. They stated that they were collecting for the White City Carnival. Witness gave them 5s., and his name was entered in a book. Witness could not swear that the accused were the men.

James Finn, 10 Rutland street, gave evidence that two men called at his house on August 1 and represented that they were collecting for the White City Carnival. He gave them 10s.

Thomas Callaghan, Manager of the Clarence Hotel, deposed that on August 15 two men interviewed him, and stated that they were collecting for the Cancer Hospital. He gave them 10s., whereupon one of the men suggested a drink.

The Magistrate—What! With your own money?

Witness, amidst laughter, replied—"Yes."

Patrick J. Stewart, Secretary of the Organising Committee of the Carnival, stated that he received no money from the two accused, who had not been authorised to collect.

An Oriel House officer deposed to arresting the accused at the White City Carnival.

Mr. Houlihan said that the men concerned were under arrest, and the whole matter would be investigated at a military inquiry.

The jury, after deliberation, returned the verdict as given above.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Dooly took place yesterday at the New Cemetery, Roscrea, and was very largely attended. The Rev. John England, Methodist Minister of Roscrea, officiated at the graveside.

EXCITING SCENES IN COUNTY WEXFORD.

CANDIDATES PELTED WITH STONES AND EGGS.

Exciting scenes were witnessed in South Wexford on Sunday during the progress of meetings held by the Labour Party, Cumann na nGaedheal, and Farmers' candidates. A large number of young men, who cycled from place to place as a "column," prevented the holding of the meetings.

When Alderman Corish, Mayor of Wexford, attempted to hold a meeting in Duncannon in support of his candidature as a Labour nominee his car was pushed from the village and he had to leave. No personal violence was offered him.

Later Mr. Thomas McCarthy, Chairman, U.D.C., Enniscorthy, the Cumann na nGaedheal candidate, and other speakers arrived in Duncannon. A hostile crowd awaited them. Mr. McCarthy had only begun to speak when the crowd closed in round the car and threw stones and other missiles, Mr. McCarthy being struck in the mouth and receiving a nasty cut. He was forced to retire from the place and to abandon other meetings fixed for the district.

At Ramsgrange Mr. N. J. Murphy, director of elections for the Farmers' Party, attended with Mr. M. J. Jordan, the Farmers' candidate, and had a more unpleasant experience than Mr. McCarthy. After a conference with the local committee of the Farmers' Union it was decided not to hold a meeting in consequence of the hostile attitude of a number of men. Mr. Jordan entered his own car and drove away, but Mr. Murphy, on entering his car, was surrounded by the men, who asked: "Where is Doyle, the executioner?" meaning Mr. Michael Doyle, the retiring member, who is again a candidate.

Mr. Murphy said that Mr. Doyle was not there. His attackers then said: "You come here from Enniscorthy to support the executions," and they threatened to use violence against Mr. Doyle if they found him.

Mr. Murphy was assaulted and was pelted with stones and rotten eggs.

Mr. Murphy, in a letter describing the occurrence, says:—"I was set upon and assaulted with clenched fists. Rotten eggs, and sound ones, too, rained upon me, and I was covered with the filth of the eggs from the top of my hat to my boots. My hat, overcoat, and suit of clothes were destroyed. We eventually got away from the howling mob amidst shouts for the Republic and 'Up Lambert.' There is no need for comment. This is some people's idea of free speech and a free election."

COUNTY GALWAY.

CUMANN NA nGAEDHEAL MEETINGS.

At a Cumann na nGaedheal meeting at Turloughmore on Sunday, the Rev. Father O'Malley, P.P., presided.

At the outset, Father O'Malley, who had asked the people to vote for the Government and obtain security and peace in their own country, was interrupted. He jumped from the platform, and, addressing one of the interrupters, said: "You are the man that held me up and tried to rob me, and you had not the courage to give your own name but gave a false name." After that there were no further interruptions.

Rev. Father O'Malley said that if the people wanted peace in the country, if they wanted prosperity to be maintained and order secured they would vote for the men who manned the Government, and who had brought that order and security. On the other hand, if they preferred that their bridges should be broken, their roads rooted up, their banks and post-offices robbed, their homes invaded, their houses burned, their children placed in danger, they would vote for the people who to-day were shouting "Up the Republic."

Mr. George Nicolls, outgoing member of the Dail, said that the Government gloried in every Act it had passed. They knew that certain people would come along and upbraid them about the Flogging Bill, and that what was not the truth would be spoken of it. No man who was at present in jail, even if he had robbed under arms, or burned his neighbour's house would be flogged, but from that date out, anyone who had done these things would have to suffer. (Applause.) He described the Land Bill as the greatest measure that had, so far, been passed for the people of Ireland.

Mr. Sean Broderick, Athenry, Vice-Chairman Galway County Council, another Cumann na nGaedheal candidate, said that when the fight was on in 1916, he was at the Department's farm at Athenry, and at Moyode, but the people who were coming forward now shouting "Up the Republic" were conspicuous by their absence, and if the Government won this election and the consequence of their victory came about, there would be the biggest run for America that was ever seen. (Laughter and applause.) He appealed to them to vote for the nine Treaty candidates in the order of their choice, and thus ensure that Ireland should be held for the Irish.

RECONSTRUCTION.

At Roundstone, the Rev. Father Malone presided. He said that it was time that reconstruction work was begun in Ireland, and the only hope of the people to have economy practised and reconstruction begun was to elect a strong Government on Monday next to support the Treaty. They should understand that the financial credit of the country was dependent upon security and good order in the future, and this the Government could secure for them as no other party could.

Mr. Padraic O'Maille was very cordially received. He was followed by Messrs. Connolly and Lee. A successful Cumann na nGaedheal meeting took place yesterday at Spiddall. Mr. Micéal O'Droignean presided. Speeches were delivered by Mr. George Nicolls and Mr. Padraic O'Maille. Mr. Richard O'Toole, Lettermore, also spoke. The proceedings were conducted altogether in Irish.

Mr. O'Maille said that they had no bitterness against those who opposed them, but the Irish people had charged them with the task of saving the nation, and they were going to do that whatever the cost. (Applause.)

Notwithstanding all the obstructions of the past fourteen months, they had put a Land Bill through the Dail which would at last rescue the poor tenants of Connemara from their uneconomic holdings, and if they got a renewed mandate they would secure a condition of things in which industries would flourish and the Irish people would become strong in their own land, and would no longer need to rush to America that they might get bread and work. (Applause.)

STORMY MEETING IN WEST CORK.

Our Bantry Correspondent states that on Sunday several election meetings were held in the West Cork (Bantry) district. The Republican Pary held a meeting in the Town Hall, at which Professor Stockley, Professor Cafferly, and the Hon. Miss Brodrick attended. There was a large mixed gathering, composed mostly of young men and women, girls and boys. It was very noisy and inharmonious. The opposition element rendered it impossible to hear either Miss Brodrick or Mr. Cafferly, who tried to speak. They were subjected to considerable heckling and interruptions. The cross-fire from both parties consisted of cries, cheers, boohs, hisses, angry exclamations, and retorts. Singing was employed to drown the voices of the speakers. Eggs of doubtful quality were hurled at Miss Brodrick whilst she was speaking. At times things were very threatening and it looked as if a general melee would occur. There were angry cries of "Who shot Collins?" "Who arrested de Valera?" "Up the Free State," "Up the Republic," "We won't have a Spaniard," "We won't have an English King," "Release the prisoners," "Cut-throat," "Looters," "Murderers," "Who broke the bridges?" and such like expressions were loudly and frequently exchanged.

Thousands of ladies keep a box of Martin's Pills in the house. Those who use them recommend them, hence their enormous sale. Price 5s. Sold by all Chemists and Stores; or post free from Proprietors, Martin, Chemists, Southampton.—[Advt.]

COUNTY ROSCOMMON.

Mr. William Kelleher, Labour candidate for County Roscommon, addressed a meeting in the Market Square last night. He complained of what he called the unfair action of the "Yellow Press" in Dublin, who seized on a statement that he did not intend to take the oath if returned to the Dail. That, he said, was entirely wrong. What he said was that he would be of more service to Ireland in the Dail than outside. Labour would be a strong element in this election.

Speaking at Ballintubber on Sunday, Count Plunkett said:—The Republic set up since 1916 still exists, and we now ask your votes to decide that the fraudulent Free State Government set up by England does not exist.

Continuing, he said that he was out for the liberty of Ireland, and there was no liberty that did not give possession of the whole of Ireland to the Irish people. If we win out, he said, we are not going to turn our guns on anyone who differs from us in opinion, and I now ask you to vote for the Republican candidates.

Messrs. J. Burke, J. J. Kelly, J. Oates, J. Ryan, P. J. Neary, J. J. Colgan, County Councillor, and Councillor Paul, Dublin, also addressed the meeting.

COUNTY DONEGAL.

A meeting in support of the Republican candidates took place in Letterkenny on Sunday. Mr. James Gibbons presided.

Madame MacBride spoke at length on the various disadvantages which, she said, the Anglo-Irish Treaty involved. She denied the right of any body of men to barter the sovereignty of Ireland without first obtaining the consent of the Irish people. She called upon the electorate of Letterkenny to endorse the Republic by registering their first vote for the Sinn Fein candidates.

Mr. O'Flaherty said that he was the only one of the candidates at liberty. Referring to his action in the Dail when the Treaty was under discussion, he said that he carefully weighed every consideration before voting against the Treaty. His first consideration had been the preservation of the honour of the nation and of the people whom he was returned to represent. He had stood by his oath, and he knew that in doing so he was acting as his constituents desired. He felt sure that the Letterkenny people would endorse his attitude, and elect him again. He stood for the absolute independence of Ireland, and in aid of other candidates in the Sinn Fein interests.

Work for wages must take the place of relief for idleness.—Mr. Clynes.

BOXING.

BOY M'CORMICK BEATEN BY MAGILL.

At the Liverpool Stadium last night, before a packed house, Boy McCormick, Dublin, met Dave Magill, Belfast, in a contest for the Cruiser Weight Championship of Ireland. They had weighed in earlier in the afternoon at 12st. 7lb., and both were well able to pass the scales.

They opened with light punches, and then a flush left from McCormick sent Magill staggering back. In the second round the Belfast man sent snappy lefts to the face, but in the third round both were swinging in anything but an accurate fashion. Midway through the fourth Magill hooked his right viciously to the jaw, and McCormick went down, Magill stumbling over him.

In the remaining exchanges the Dublin boxer appeared very tired. The fifth session saw a repetition of this, for McCormick went down from a similar punch, and was very unsteady when he got to his feet. Magill was down in the sixth, but from a push, and was quickly up. He punished McCormick. In the next two rounds McCormick was receiver general, but he was game. Obviously weak McCormick was taking plenty of punishment in the ninth, and he was again down in the tenth, and at the end of this round McCormick's seconds threw the towel into the ring. Magill was declared the winner.

KIRK BEATS GENT.

Another important bout was one of twenty rounds at 9st. 4lb. between Harry Gent, Chorley, and Jack Kirk, Doncaster, these lads boxing for £100 and a purse. In the opening rounds work was by no means first-rate, for neither was hitting with any power behind their punches. Kirk was undoubtedly claiming the honours, for he was stalling off his erratic opponent with his left. He was missing valuable openings, and when the bout had reached the sixth round interest had waned to the extent of evoking satirical comment from the audience. The ninth round was the first to arouse the enthusiasm of the audience, for the men stood toe to toe, and exchanged double handed head punches in great style. The next few rounds saw Gent with his unorthodox tactics getting home where his cleverer opponent failed, and Kirk quickly slipped back on to defensive work. Round after round was boxed on similar lines until the tenth, when Kirk adopted forceful tactics. The contest went the full distance, when Kirk received a points verdict.

"You need not worry about the success of your party," said Jenny Jellijoy. "I have something to suit every palate, and it looks so dainty, so delicious and refreshing that it will be an added adornment to even the nicest table. But it tastes even nicer than it looks."

DUBLIN DEPOT:—3a Burgh Quay, Dublin.

Only half-past nine—and wash day's finished!

IT used to last well into the afternoon—but that was before she started using Iceberg Soap. Now she faces washday with a light heart.

This is the way she does it. The night before she puts the clothes in warm water, rubbing on the soap lightly and leaving them to soak over-night. Then while she sleeps Iceberg does its work, loosening every particle of dirt. In the morning she rinses the clothes in clean warm water. The dirt just drops out, leaving them clean and sweet.

Because Iceberg is a pure soap containing no excessive alkali, it does not injure your hands.

When you wash with Iceberg Soap you don't need to boil clothes or to spend hours scrubbing on a wash board. Iceberg takes all the weary toil out of washday. And it is as kind to the clothes as to you. It will not fade delicate colours or damage flimsy fabrics.

You can wash your most precious possessions with Iceberg Soap secure in the knowledge that they'll emerge from the washtub looking as pretty as the day you bought them.

Begin using Iceberg Soap next washday. You can get it everywhere in in Ireland in tablets at 5d. and 6½d.

Made at Donaghmore, Co. Tyrone, by D. Brown and Son, Ltd., makers of the celebrated Colleen Soap. Iceberg is as good for household and laundry as Colleen is for the toilet.

For rough work use Iceberg Powdered Soap, in 7½d. packets.

DEVELOPING DUBLIN PORT.

MR. DAVID BARRY'S VIEWS.

"Everything that concerns the Port of Dublin," said Mr. David Barry—one of the Business candidates for Dublin County, in a statement—"is a matter of national interest.

"I have been working for several years with the object of building up the port, and making it thoroughly up-to-date in the matter of dredging and the provision of adequate deep-water berthage. We spent £70,000 on a new dredger that was worth every penny of the price; and since I became Chairman of the Port and Docks Board we have started new berthage to accommodate steamers with a draught of 35 feet.

"We have reclaimed 55 acres of land, and schemes are at present under consideration for reclaiming 500 acres more.

"If the reconstruction scheme known as the Greater Dublin Movement materialises, I am satisfied that the best use of the Custom House Docks would be to utilise them as the site for the suggested central railway station for all railway lines operating in the capital. I am out to make Dublin the chief gateway for Ireland, as, owing to its geographical position, it can best serve economically all the counties.

"To achieve this idea there must be goodwill on all sides, more especially between employer and employé. With common-sense all round in a common cause I know no reason why a large amount of employment should not be found within a very short space of time for a large army of men.

"With the demobilisation of the Army, thousands will be seeking employment. Instead of putting those men on the 'dole' it would be much better business for the Government to subsidise works of improvement such as those I have mentioned. The Government would find the Port Board willing to consider its suggestions towards creating works of importance to find employment. In turn, however, the Government would be required to assist the Board."

THE CATTLE TRADE.

Turning to the cattle trade and the shipment questions, Mr. Barry, pointing out that he was a large tiller of the soil, said that his chief interest lay in seeing that our cattle export trade was not only maintained, but increased. With careful breeding and proper supervision from the farm to the English market he was satisfied that much more than at present could be done to develop the trade.

"At the present time," Mr. Barry proceeded, "very little care is taken in the handling of cattle at the Irish fairs, in entraining and detraining, and while being driven to the lairs for shipment. The Department of Agriculture should organise a system whereby inspectors would be present at fairs and railway loading banks, with adequate powers to see that cattle are humanely handled. I am in a position to say that cattle are very inhumanely treated at all these places, with the result that when they are shown or killed at the English side the carcases are frequently found to be very severely bruised, thus involving no little loss.

"It has always been a mystery to me why the authorities should allow cattle to be beaten, and I hope that, under our new conditions, our own Ministers will adopt some measures so as to ensure the careful and humane handling of cattle whether by road, rail, or sea. The law should be made to treat cattle-beaters in the same way as wife-beaters. By co-operation all round, and fair and just laws in this direction, I am satisfied that we could not only maintain our hold on the English market for our Irish cattle, but increase our shipments considerably."

Mr. Barry was in agreement with the suggestion of the Greater Dublin Reconstruction Committee, that the Dublin Cattle Market should be moved nearer to the point of shipment. The proposed removal of the market, he thought, would mean a great saving of time, and if the scheme was carried out the congestion in the street would be relieved to a considerable extent, and the cattle would benefit materially.

"These!" Mr. Barry concluded, "are matters to which, if elected, I would devote my earnest attention. But there are many other matters which require to be looked after in the new Legislature. We, business men, have the interests of the country at heart, because those interests are identical with our own. We are out to develop the country commercially and agriculturally, and we stand by the Treaty."

The floating debt of Germany in discounted Treasury bills amounted on August 10 to 117,300 milliard marks, being an increase of 59,400 milliards since August 1.

RECEPTION TO MR. JOHN McCORMACK.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL AND THE LAND OF SONG.

A reception to Mr. John McCormack and Mrs. McCormack was given yesterday afternoon at the Shelbourne Hotel, Dublin, by a number of friends and supporters of Kylemore Benedictine Abbey, in recognition of his generosity to the community of nuns who have made their home there.

Amongst those who attended were the Governor-General of the Free State, Right Hon. James McMahon, Lord Chief Justice Molony and Mrs. Molony, Dr. Larchet, Sir Thomas Macardle, Mr. J. P. Butler, Mr. Hubert Briscoe, Rev. J. G. O'Reilly, Mr. Andrew Keogh, Mr. Vincent O'Brien, Judge D. J. O'Brien, Marquis McSwiney, Mr. R. J. Kelly, K.C.; Mr. J. McVeigh, Senator Oliver Gogarty, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kennedy, Dr. and Mrs. Kennedy Cahill, Dr. J. McDonnell, Dr. P. J. Keogh, Mr. John Nugent, Mr. J. P. MacAvin.

The Very Rev. Dr. Merten, O.S.B., Director of the Irish Benedictine Nuns, having welcomed the visitors, said that the nuns of Kylemore were an ancient Irish foundation.

John McCormack had displayed a truly royal generosity towards the Abbey of Kylemore, and he was, in fact, the founder of Kylemore Abbey. It was at the request of the nuns that he had come to Dublin to help them.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

The Governor-General said that he believed that that large and distinguished audience would have been much larger if there had been a charge for admission. (Laughter.) The address of the Rev. Dr. Merten spoke of their friend, John McCormack, as the Prince of Song. He (the Governor-General) would rather speak of him as the King of Song and the Prince of Charity. Mr. McCormack sat on a throne which he won by marvellously hard work. Few who listened to his golden notes could picture to themselves the intensity of the labour, and study, and energy, and the time that it required to give finish to the great gift which God had bestowed upon him. In German, Italian, French, and Irish he had become a master. In spite of his acquaintance with foreign tongues he still remained John McCormack, the same as he was when he stepped from across the Shannon into fame. (Applause.)

He had proved that this was, indeed, a Land of Song. When education was interspersed throughout our towns and villages there would come a time—though Mr. McCormack's equal may not soon appear—when there would be a revival of the great bardic and poetic traditions which made Irish airs and melodies famous throughout the world.

Mr. McCormack said that although he was no stranger to receptions such as this, he felt some embarrassment when whatever little charitable work he had done was praised as it was here. It was the public who came to hear him who deserved the praise, not he, for he might sing "until the cows came home," and his efforts would be in vain if the public did not respond to the charitable appeal. He was specially interested in helping the nuns of Kylemore, because their motto was "Peace," and as an apostle of harmony he thought that it would be a good thing to come over to Dublin and try to bring some harmony into the existing discord.

The London Missionery Society has received a cablegram from Shanghai stating that all the Society's property at Tsaoshih was destroyed in the bandit raid on that town.

INDIGESTION AND YOU!

The above is a bad partnership: you want to push ahead and enjoy life and the good things it offers, while digestive trouble is about the biggest handicap you could possibly have. You'd do well to let Bisurated Magnesia rid you of the bane of stomach trouble, which this honest, simple remedy can do—quickly, and at small cost. Bisurated Magnesia neutralises the harmful acid that causes such stomach complaints as indigestion, gastritis and dyspepsia, and that's just why it's the finest, surest and most natural remedy on the chemists' shelves. Just try a package (powder or tablets) and judge for yourself—you'll eat better, sleep better and feel better within twenty-four hours!

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

WAR FIVES BETTER. BANKS HARDER. CITY STEAM SCARCE. "CASHEL" ORD. RALLY FURTHER. TEXTILES WEAKER, BUT COATS FIRM. TOBACCOS STRONG. DUNLOPS NEGLECTED.

In view of the current aspect of uneasiness over the Ruhr question, it was satisfactory to find the chief representative British Government Securities firmly supported and an enhanced price quoted, but the general volume of dealing was poor outside very few Securities. Banks were firmer in a quiet market. Among Breweries, Guinness Ord. at one time eased a trifle, but closed unaltered. J. Power and Son Pref. were harder. City Steam Stock further advanced, and Marconi Ord. Shares were firmer. Home Rails were almost neglected. Great Southern and Western rallied further. All Pre-Ord. issues were quite idle. Tyre, Gas, and Drapery Shares were all neglected. The Dunlop investigation report, expected to be issued the current week, did not influence a single order either to buy or sell. Johnston Bakery Shares fell back. Textiles were mostly lower, but Tobacco Shares were again under strong supporting pressure, in view of the reported early notification of a bonus on British-American Shares. Dolphin Hotel Ord. and Burke Debs. were on offer.

In the Funds the further rise of ⅛ to 101¼ in War Loan 5 p.c. Stock was the feature. Consols fell ½ to 58¼, and War Loan 4 p.c. ⅛ to 101⅛, while Conversion 3½ p.c. repeated 79½, India 3½ p.c. 69½, and ditto 5½ p.c. 101. Dublin Port and Docks 3½ p.c. realised 56½.

Banks closed generally harder. Bank of Ireland rose ½ to 248¼, and Munster and Leinsters were bid up ⅛ to 6⅛, without getting a share. Nationals were firm at 20¼. Royals were unofficially called 14 to 14½, without any real attempt at business.

In Breweries, Guinness Ord. fell ⅛ to 38¼ at the opening of the market, but later closed unchanged at 38⅜, and the Pref. repeated 12¼. John Power and Son Pref. rose 3d. to 22s.

City of Dublin Steam Stock rose ½ to 144½.

Marconi Ord. Shares rose 3d. to 47s. 3d.

Home Rails were very much neglected. Great Southern and Western rose ¼ to 46¼, while Dublin and South-Eastern repeated 20 for an odd lot. All Pre-Ord. issues were neglected. Athenry and Tuam 4 p.c. Baronials again realised 5, or half price.

In Bakery Shares, Johnston Ord. fell 2s. 6d. to 62s. 6d. from recent nominal quotation of 60s., 70s.

Trams were idle outside Dublin United Ord., which repeated 6⅜.

Among Manufacturing Shares, British-American Tobacco rose 1s. 6d. to 106s., and Imperials 1s. to 71s. 4½d., 71s. 9d., 72s. Textiles were rather weaker, with the exception of Coats Ord., which rose 3d. to 68s. 9d. Bleachers fell 6d. to 47s., Dyers 1s. to 54s., Courtaulds 3d. to 62s., and Cottons 3d. to 49s. 9d., with a subsequent rally to 50s. Lever Bros 8 p.c. Pref. remain at 21s. sellers for choice.

In Trading, etc., E. and J. Burke Debs. fell ⅛ to 8⅜, and Dolphin Hotel Ord. 2s. 6d. to 45s., while Brooks Thomas Ord. remain at 23s. for a small lot. Burke Ord. again fetched 64s. 6d.

Mexican Eagle Oils realised 20s. 7½d., and Hope Bros. Ord. 22s. 3d.

DOCUMENT NOT YET COMPLETED.

It would appear that the question of publishing the Dunlop Investigation Committee's report will be definitely decided when the document itself has reached its final form. According to authoritative information, the report is not yet completed, but it will be ready for the printer "in a very short space from now." Since the Committee of Inspection has been acting on behalf of the shareholders, it seems obvious that their report must be made to them. The question of wider publication is, of course, one for the directors to decide.

LONDON STOCKS QUIETLY STEADY.

A FIRMER TONE.

Quiet conditions ruled in the Stock Markets. Business was on an extremely small scale, but where any definite tone was apparent in any section it was steady to firm. French issues were inclined to harden on the improvement in the exchange and the prospect of a satisfactory Note being received by the British Government from M. Poincaré. Industrials were good in places, and Mining Shares were not without support. Conversions remained at 79¼, but 5 p.c. War Loan showed strength and closed with a rise of ⅛ at 101¼. Funding Loan lost ⅛ at 92. Other British Government securities showed no movement, and the Colonial list marked time.

A moderate amount of business was passing in the FOREIGN MARKET, and the tone was firm. French Loan 5 p.c. rose ½ to 25 x.d. Chinese and Japanese issues were strong, with a rise of 1 in places, and Mexican 5 p.c. 1899 and 6 p.c. 10-year Treasury both advanced 1½ to 59 and 70 respectively.

HOME RAILS presented a neglected front. The tone was steady, but business was insufficient to move prices, except in the case of Metropolitans, which improved ½ to 69 x.d.

Quiet, irregular conditions ruled among COLONIAL AND FOREIGN RAILS. Canadian Pacifics repeated 161, and Grand Trunk Pacifics did not move. United Havana appreciated ½ to 71½, but Buenos Ayres Pacific Ord. and Buenos Ayres and Western both lost that fraction.

OIL SHARES CHEERFUL.

RISES IN THE LEADERS.

Oil shares commenced the week quite cheerfully, this section of the "House" comparing favourably with other departments. Attention, however, was devoted mainly to a few specialities, and business was once more largely of a professional character. Preliminaries in connection with the settlement were in progress, and the arrangement of the carry-over was practically completed. A short position was revealed in certain of the leaders and speculative favourites. Certain dealers were short of Anglo-Persians and Burmahs and were endeavouring to take in both, and at one time there was a back. of ⅛ on Burmahs. There were also takers-in of Shells and Phœnix. This condition led to higher prices being quoted and the above-mentioned shares being bid for in the late dealings. Among the leaders, Shells registered an advance, and Royal Dutch came into demand shortly after midday on early advices from New York, and the price moved up, while gains were scored by Anglo-Persians and Burmahs. A steady business was done in Mexican Eagles, which were a firm market throughout the day. Business on behalf of Continental centres was of little importance. Closing prices:—

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Over £3,000,000 is involved in a deal which is proceeding for two of the largest steel and tinplate works situated near Swansea, four collieries in the same district, and steel works, and two collieries in Monmouthshire. While the negotiations, which are being undertaken by a London syndicate, are proceeding satisfactorily, nothing definite has yet resulted.

Is there not some independent trust company that will come forward and champion the cause of the Debenture holders of Workman, Clark, and Co. Something more is required, says the Boundary Standard, than the investigation that has taken place. Probably several of the trust companies are holders of the Debentures, and if they were to solicit the support of private holders they would get it.

LONDON MINING MARKET FIRMER.

IMPROVEMENTS IN KAFFIRS.

A firmer tone was noticeable in all departments of the House yesterday, although business was still somewhat scarce. The Mining sections were engaged with the carry-over, and here the open position was found to be considerably reduced. The general contango rate charged was 5¼ p.c. to 6½ p.c., with here and there a tendency to be easier, Cam and Motor being done as low as 2 p.c., and Selukwe declining to 4 p.c. As regards the making-up prices, Kaffirs show a long list of improvements over those fixed for the last account. As regards new account business there was little accumulation of orders over the week-end, although a little professional activity was noticeable. The tendency in the South African section was distinctly more encouraging, and at the close quotations were higher on the day. City Deep were supported, and rose sharply, while the other leading Kaffirs were mainly the turn better. Randfonteins responded to bear covering, and the Centrals improved in sympathy. All told, at the finish a fairly long list of improvements was recorded. Among Rhodesians, Chartered were stronger. Cams moved up, and several of the lower-priced shares were better on the day. De Beers Deferred were steady, but the Preference Shares were marked down. Taquah and Abosso advanced in the West African section, but a couple of Barriers declined. Rio Tintos again improved, though closing slightly under the best. Closing prices.

INDUSTRIALS COLOURLESS.

TOBACCO GROUP FIRM.

Speaking generally, the Miscellaneous and Industrial markets showed no decided tendency yesterday, the imminence of the general carry-over and the uncertainties existing with regard to political developments restricting business. A good deal of interest again centred in the Tobacco group, B.A.T. closed a firm market at 104s. 9d., after having been dealt in at over 106s., while Imperials put on 1s. 3d. to 72s. 3d, business being recorded at 72s. 7½d. Canadas stiffened to 23s. 9d. and United Tobacco Def. rose to 59s. 6d. Among Miscellaneous descriptions, African and Eastern were subjected to realisations, and finished 6d. lower at 31s. 6d., while Oil Cakes eased to 27s. 9d., and Lever 8 per cent. Prefs. to 20s. 10½d. The 7 per cent., however, hardened to 22s. Cements held their ground at 23s. 3d., though the Prefs. eased to 18s. Slight improvements were seen in British Aluminium Prefs. at £1, in Nobels Prefs. at the same level, and in Waring and Gillow Prefs. at 9s. 6d. Gamage put on 6d. to 16s. 6d., as did also Nobel Def. to 7s. Bell's Asbestos lost ⅛ at 1⅛, and Wallpaper Def. eased to 15s. 3d. In the Newspaper group, Associated Ord. dropped 6d. to 22s. 6d., and George Newnes a similar amount to 16s. 6d. The Def. shares of the former, however, strengthened to 7⅜. Renewed firmness was exhibited by Courtaulds, which finished 1s. higher on the day at 63s. Elsewhere in Textiles, however, Cellulose fell 6d. to 13s. 9d., and the Prefs. 3d. to 14s. 6d., while Listers came on offer and dropped 9d. to 26s. A fall of ⅛ in Jays to ⅞ was the only noticeable change in Foodstuffs. Among Land shares Sudan Plantations were wanted, and put on ⅛ to 5⅛. Duff Developments closed 7½d. down on balance at 6s. 6d., and City of San Paulo Improvements weakened to 2s. 9d. Bank shares were irregular. Hong Kong and Shanghai fell 1 to 126, and Chartered of Indias ½ to 19½. Lloyds lost the turn at 59s. Gains of ⅛ took place in National of South Africas to 6, in National Provincial (£4) to 11, and in Union of Australias to 14½. Insurances kept steady at previous levels.

Following the announcement that no interim distribution would be forthcoming on the Ord. shares, Hadfields gave way to £1, which left them 1s. 3d. lower on balance. Fairbairn-Lawsons were practically unaffected by the reduction in their interim dividend, the shares remaining at 23s. 6d. Pease and Partners fell 6d. to 25s. 6d., and J. Brown Prefs. ⅛ to 8⅜, while Tata Debs. dropped ⅜ to 92. Workman-Clark Debs. weakened to 34, bargains being recorded at down to 31. On the other hand, Vickers continued in demand, and further improved to 13s. South Durhams were wanted and rose 9d. to 58s. 9d., and smaller advances occurred in Babcocks to 43s. 6d., in Baldwins to 17s. 6d., in Dorman Longs to 15s. 3d., and Guest Keens to 41s. Coal and Gas Stocks closed without quotable alteration, while the only noticeable movement in Shipping issues was a fall of 6d. in Furness Withys to 27s., ex. bonus. Among Electrical concerns, Chelseas gained 6d. at 54s. 6d., and Westminsters ⅛ at 9½, ex. div., while Edison Swans hardened to 4s. 9d. County of Londons kept firm at 43s., and the New at round 42s. In the Canadian-American list, Brazil Tractions rose 1 to 49. Apart from Lautaros, which met with fresh support and rose another ½ to 10, there was little of interest in Nitrates. In the Wireless group, Marconis kept firm at 2⅜, though the Prefs. receded to 2⅛. The Debs. rose ½ to 107.

Among Cables, British Insulated strengthened to 48s., and Anglo B. to 100⅜. Chili Telephones improved to 6, and Telephone Manufacturing Bonds to 96, though United River Plates receded to 6⅛. Breweries moved within narrow limits. Allsopp Prefs. fell 1 to 64½, and Booths 6d. to 15s.; but Bass Prefs. rose ½ to 91½. Among Caterers, Aerated Breads strengthened to 25s. 9d., and Liptons to 26s. 6d., while in Foodstuffs, Bovril Def. improved to 28s. Van Den Berghs shed ⅛ to 1⅛, ex. div. Apart from Boots New, which were not so good at 91s. 3d., new issues kept firm. Enfield Cable Prefs. strengthened to 4½d. dis. Electrics continued in demand and rose to 41s. 3d., while Urban Debs. improved to 2⅜ prem.

COMPANY MEETINGS.

[illegible] HOTEL COMPANY.

[illegible] of the Central Hotel [illegible] the Central Hotel, [illegible] directors present [illegible] L.; Mr. George Richardson [illegible] Chairman [illegible] with the business [illegible] the great [illegible] absence of Mr. [illegible] The directors' [illegible] accounts for the year [illegible] having been proposed [illegible] seconded by Mr. [illegible] adopted, and the [illegible] of 10 per cent. for [illegible] June, 1923, was [illegible] [illegible] O'Brien, [illegible] Booker, [illegible] Tyrrant [illegible] hotel. The [illegible]

[illegible] WAREHOUSING COMPANY.

[illegible] ordinary general meeting [illegible] was held at the company's [illegible] quay, Dublin, yesterday. [illegible] presided.

[illegible] of the directors and auditors [illegible] statement of accounts to 30th June, [illegible] submitted and adopted. A dividend [illegible] per cent. for the six months ended [illegible] June, 1923, and a bonus of 6 per cent. [illegible] the year ended same date were declared, [illegible] tax, payable on 27th inst., carrying forward £31,522, as against £32,060 last [illegible] The retiring director, Mr. F. H. Hall, [illegible] the auditors, Messrs. Woodworth and [illegible] were re-elected.

[illegible] Chairman, before dealing with the report and accounts, on behalf of the directors expressed the sense of their loss on the death of the late secretary, Mr. Drought, who for forty-two years was associated with the company. The directors, he said, had the highest regard for him personally and in their business relations with him during this extended period. The position of secretary had been filled by the appointment of Mr. R. F. Woodworth, who had occupied a leading position with the company for a long period of years, and the directors felt that the work was again in safe hands.

The directors' report explained the conditions under which the company's business was carried on for the past year. From the causes stated the imports were restricted, and the consignees naturally avoided as far as possible the cost of warehousing. The position was still against holding stocks, but it was expected that there would be in the near future a return to normal conditions in prices, enabling the importer to purchase on the basis of a margin for carrying charges.

The question of working expenses, the Chairman continued, had actively engaged the attention of the management. Conferences with labour representatives have been repeatedly held, with a view to getting reasonable reductions in wages, but the results have been most disappointing. Increases of 300 per cent. were made during and since the war, and the two slight concessions had only amounted to about one-sixth of the 300 per cent. Quay labour before the war was paid 6s. per day. This was increased to 18s. per day. Two reductions of 1s. each were made, leaving the present wages 16s. per day, as against 10s. per day on the other side. The outlay on general account has been reduced, but the rates and taxes are a serious menace to industry, the outgoings under this head being £5,328 16s. 11d., and there is no indication of relief. Fortunately, the company in the time of plenty made ample provision by way of reserves and carry forward for possible lean times, and there is no occasion for anxiety, especially as the profits were maintained in the past year at the level of pre-war years.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman.

EGGS—Market remained firm for all the finer qualities owing to quantities of same coming forward being on a small scale. Quotations:—English 18/- to 22/-, Danish, 18lbs. 18/- to 19/-, 16lbs. 17/- to 17/6; Dutch all brown 19/- to 20/-, mixed 17/- to 18/-; Italian, 17lbs. 16/6 to 17/-, 16lbs. 15/6 to 16/6, 15lbs. 14/6 to 15/6. LIVERPOOL, Monday.—BACON—Irish, Danish, and Canadian sides remain nominal owing to continued scarcity. Holders of American selections here in consequence offer very sparingly despite the liberal shipments from the Atlantic seaboard for past week and easier prices for live hogs at Chicago. There is a fair demand, especially for American Wiltshires, which being relatively scarce are raised considerably to 93/- to 100/-, while bellies are also dearer at 78/- to 82/-, light Cumberlands 85/- to 90/-, and heavy 80/- to 88/- per cwt. HAMS in fair request, but with liberal supplies holders are free sellers, and short cut reduced to 108/- to 116/- per cwt. Shoulders irregular, squares being firm and dearer at 72/- to 76/-, but picnics in free supply at easier prices up to 64/- per cwt. LARD on the spot firm and dearer, especially prime steam, which is very scarce, and held for 63/6 to 64/6, with American refined quoted 63/6 to 65/- per cwt. CHEESE quiet, at about late currencies. BUTTER firm, and partially dearer at 186/- to 190/- for Danish, and 180/- to 182/- New Zealand. EGGS still scarce and nominal, a few Irish being again offered at 16/- to 18/-, and Danish 18/9 to 20/- per 120.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BRADFORD WOOL, Monday.—The market has resumed after the holidays with a cheerful tone for medium and coarse crossbreds, and some topmakers want slightly higher prices. Forties prepared are generally quoted 16½d. Fine tops are barely steady, and cheap offers for forward delivery are an unsettling factor. Business in these sorts is stagnant.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Monday.—American firm inquiry. Brazilian quotations reduced 4 points. East Indian unchanged. Egyptian firm request. THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS IN AMPLE SUPPLY.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE FRANC.

Owing to the absence of maturities it had been feared that loanable credit would be usable, especially as weekly balancing was going on by the banks. However, the demand for loans proved to be exceedingly small, more so because of the stagnation in discounts, and supplies were ample. Night money sometimes commanded 2½ p.c., but 2¼ was the average, with fixtures going on at 2½. None of the banks was inquiring for bills, and discounts were very dull, with an easy tendency. The new Treasuries were 3 p.c. "to over," with no selling in evidence, fine three months' bank bills being 3⅛-3¼ p.c. Septembers were nominally 2⅞ and October just under 3.

Gold was 3d. per oz. higher at 90s. 5d. nominal. Silver rose ⅛d. per oz. to 31⅛d. for spot and 30⅞d. for forward delivery.

The more hopeful feeling surrounding the Franco-British position in regard to the Ruhr was reflected in a slight improvement in foreign exchanges. At one time French francs were 82.30, but rallied again to 81.80-81.90, with Belgium 102.65-102.75 and Italy 106-106⅛. Sterling was dull on New York at 4.55⅛-4.55⅜, and German marks were nominally worse at 17,000,000-18,000,000, but Dutch florins appreciated to 11.58-11.58⅛, and Swiss francs remained firm at 25.17-25.20. Rupees were down at 1s. 4⅛d.-1s. 4⅛d., but Japanese yen kept firm at 2s. 1⅛d.-2s. 1⅛d. Argentine dollars weakened afresh to 38⅛-38⅛, Brazilian milreis remaining at 5⅛-5⅛. Norwegian kroner were not so good at 27.95-28.00, while Polish marks showed no recovery at 1,100,000-1,300,000, Rumania being 1,030-1,080 and Greece 260-270. The following are closing quotations:—

THE PAPYRUS PROJECT.

TWO INTERESTING REAPPEARANCES.

HOUDALE'S EASY WIN AT WOLVERHAMPTON.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.
LONDON, Monday Night.

The project to send Papyrus to America to run against the best three-year-old that the United States can find by a process of elimination is, I am able to say, being taken most seriously by all connected with the Derby winner. As a matter of fact, arrangements are being made by a bloodstock agency for his transport to New York, and Mr. Irish, his owner, and Basil Jarvis, his trainer, seem to have quite made up their minds about the matter. In fact, they seem to be confident that their colt will successfully undergo the journey and be fit enough on his arrival there to beat the best that will be opposed to him. It is all very wonderful, and if it comes off it will upset all our pre-conceived ideas.

Should Papyrus by any chance be beaten in the St. Leger—and this is a by no means unlikely contingency—it will rather discount his reception in America, and the Statue of Liberty outside New York Harbour will not bestow on the ship that carries him quite the same benign smile that she would have done to a Derby winner with an unbesmirched record.

To come back to earth for a moment from these fantastic speculations about the prospects of Papyrus in the great Republic, there seems likely to be excellent racing to-morrow at Stockton. Two very interesting reappearances are promised us in the course of the meeting. Welsh Spear, who won the Hardwicke Stakes at Ascot fourteen months ago and has never been troubled since by the worry of having to appear on a racecourse, has been sent to run for the Stockton Handicap. On Wednesday his comrade in arms in Mr. Gilpin's stable, St. Louis, the winner of the Two Thousand Guineas last year, is due to run in the Stewards' Handicap. Both are high-class racehorses, and we might easily find them later on as fancied candidates for the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire respectively. Both have been in fairly good work lately, but it is doubtful if either is anything like fit enough to run yet; and it might be as well to pass over their chances.

The Stockton Handicap to-morrow might easily be a good thing for Mr. S. B. Joel's SET OFF, who ran away with the race last year, beating Blue Lady in a canter, and who is a good deal fancied now. The Wynyard Plate will produce some useful two-year-olds, and I like the chance of EQUATOR, who may prove good enough to beat Hellespont. ROGER DE BUSLI will meet with rather weak opposition in the Great Northern Leger, and should win.

Lord Astor's CONCERTINA has been sent to run for the Wolverhampton Foal Plate at the Midland Meeting, and the race seems at her mercy.

It would appear that Mr. Arthur McCann did well when he sold Ulula to Lady Torrington some months ago. The horse seemed to have a great chance of winning the Summer Handicap this afternoon at Wolverhampton. Donoghue rode him, and he was made a 7 to 4 chance. He finished fifth of seven runners, Houdale winning very easily. Houdale beat him at Alexandra Park, and, with a good deal the worse of the weights, fully confirmed the previous running.

Crimson Dawn, a Glasgerion gelding whom Captain Curtis Davis trains for Mr. C. F. Kenyon, showed himself an improved horse by beating Golden Duke and Almond Wine in the Wyfold Handicap. The success of this trainer with Mr. Kenyon's horses this year has been remarkable. He is admirably assisted in his work by his head man, Reid, who for some years was with Mr. J. M. Bell, at Epsom.

THE RING, BLACKFRIARS.

The fifteen rounds contest at the Ring, Blackfriars, last night, between Frankie Burns, middle-weight champion of Australia, and Fred Archer, the Londoner, was an event of interest. Archer was giving away a good deal in weight. At the previous meeting he had beaten Burns. This was a hard, clean fight, both men being clever and keen. Burns had the best of the early rounds, but Archer fought on splendidly. Burns, however, got the verdict on points.

TURF NOTES.

THE ST. LEGER.

CANNON V. DONOGHUE.

PRINCE EDWARD HANDICAP.

FROM A FORMER HANDICAPPER.
LONDON, Monday.

We have had some rain, but not sufficient. Anyhow, trainers of the principal candidates for future events are very thankful, and we shall probably see a representative field for the St. Leger. Before dealing with this and other races, let me mention a matter which has created a deal of discussion in racing circles on this side. I refer to Kempton Cannon's challenge to Donoghue in order to disprove Lord Durham's contention that the forward seat meant at least a 10lb. advantage. This test would be thoroughly interesting if Cannon had been riding recently. He has been out of the saddle for many years, with the result that his present weight is over 10st. If the selected horses met on level terms Donoghue would be handicapped with round about 3st. of dead weight. The late Danny Maher, who had no superior as a jockey in his day, did not always ride in the pronounced American style. He discovered that on certain racecourses a compromise between the English and American methods was more effective, and therein lay the secret of his great success. Herbert Jones v. Donoghue would be a much more satisfactory test.

And now for the St. Leger. The hard going at Manton has cracked up Saltash, and many people will regret not seeing the Eclipse Stakes winner at Doncaster. Papyrus goes well in his gallops, and so does Doric. Last week I referred to Parth as a most unlucky loser of the Derby. As anticipated, he duly turned up at Redcar and simply played with Leighon Tor, who was conceding 7lb. Strange to say, Taylor's mare was favourite, but Manton money was not responsible for the market quotation. All Taylor wanted to do was to find the strength of this very likely winner of the St. Leger, and he is satisfied that it will take a really good one to defeat Parth at Doncaster.

Some of the comparatively valuable races this week look like falling very flat. First of all, we have the Wolverhampton Breeders' Foal Plate to-day. This looks to be at the mercy of CONCERTINA. If Taylor does not care to pick up the 700 sovs., then Platt may do so through Baronscourt. What remains of the entry would have a better chance in a selling plate.

Another race likely to produce few runners is the Great Northern St. Leger at Stockton to-morrow. Papyrus is not likely to run, but B. Jarvis can fall back upon ROGER DE BUSLI. The son of Hurry On has been set two very stiff tasks this year, and, strange to say, he was backed by his connections to accomplish almost the impossible in each case—in the North Derby 16lb. to Concertina and in the Oadby Breeders' Stakes at Leicester 16lb. to Cos! This will show what B. Jarvis, whose stable has had a rare innings, thinks of "Roger."

There are two other valuable races at Stockton—viz., the Stockton Handicap to-morrow and the Stewards' Handicap on Wednesday. Both are worth 1,000 sovs., and in both appear Mr. S. Joel's Set Off, who ran really well in the Liverpool Cup, and Lord Londonderry's St. Cormac, who has not been seen out since May. Moabite's ready victory in the Royal Windsor Handicap on Saturday clearly points to the chance of SET OFF, for, although there were two lengths between them at level weights in the Liverpool Cup, Mr. S. Joel's horse could have been closer up had the jockey wished to press him. Pickering has been very patient with St. Cormac, who was backed to beat Roger de Busli in the Payne Stakes at a difference of 13lb. In both the races referred to St. Cormac has been weighted like a somewhat indifferent three-year-old—viz., 6st. 12lb. and 6st. 7lb., respectively. If there was any justification for the support at Newmarket this would mean Roger de Busli in both races would have a weight which would cause him to start a very hot favourite. In fact, on such terms he might quite easily win both.

Looking a little bit further ahead, we have the acceptances for the Prince Edward Handicap and the weights for the "Ebor." The Cesarewitch favourite (Ceylonese) has declined the former, but is entered for the latter, and is set to carry 8st. 2lb. All the clever people are tumbling over each other to get on this horse for the Cesarewitch, overlooking the fact, perhaps, that Sir Abe Bailey likes to win races in Yorkshire. There could have been no complaint on the score of Ceylonese's weight in the Prince Edward Handicap, but it must be remembered that in the original entry R. Day held a strongish hand with the following:—Bessema, 4 years, 8st. 1lb.; Ceylonese, 4 years, 7st. 13lb.; Revival, 4 years, 6st. 7lb.; Apron, 3 years, 6st. 4lb.; Daughter-in-Law, 3 years, 6st. 4lb.

Two remain, and many shrewd judges regard this race as a real test of Ceylonese's chance for the Cesarewitch. If R. Day happens to win the Prince Edward Handicap with either Bessema (8st. 6lb.), or Revival (6st. 12lb.), there will probably be a panic to get on to Ceylonese for the Newmarket event, and let us hope, for the sake of the Rand magnate and the public, that this won't be another Tishy fiasco.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

The athletic team representing Oxford University arrived yesterday in Cape Town, and were accorded a magnificent welcome.

Mrs. Collie's Little Marten will not meet his engagement in the £500 Hibernian Handicap at the Curragh this afternoon because he is in reserve for the Ebor Handicap at York next week. He will be ridden in that race by T. Burns.

Owners and trainers should note that entries close to-morrow for all races at the Proudstown Park September Meeting, including the Navan Plate, a £250 handicap steeplechase, the distance of which is two and a half miles.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

Now that plenty of rain has fallen and trainers enabled to send their charges along, there should be no dearth of runners at the Curragh this week, and fair-sized fields may be expected for the various events. The principal event on to-day's card is the Hibernian Plate, for the winner of which I shall rely on

DUNSTALL PARK (WOLVERHAMPTON).

HOUDALE AGAIN.

CRIMSON DAWN WINS WYFOLD HANDICAP.

Though heavy rain fell early at Wolverhampton yesterday, by noon the weather had cleared and the proceedings opened in fine weather. A field of twelve moderate animals went to the post for the first event, and Prolific was soon installed a warm favourite. He failed, however, and could do no better than finish second to Piercing Note, who was capably ridden by the apprentice, Edwards.

The Stanton Selling Plate provided a capital race, for, after Jack Patch, who made a very quick beginning, had looked like winning easily, Lenglen challenged close home to snatch a head victory on the post.

A small field went to the post for the Dunstall Two-Year-Old Plate, and Sunny South was installed a warm favourite. He justified this position by winning in a canter from the Sundrella gelding and Bees in Amber.

There was some close wagering on the Wyfold Handicap, Golden Duke, Well Shot, Almond Wine, and Crimson Dawn all being well backed. It was left to the outsider of the party to win a good race by half a length from Golden Duke.

Houdale continued his winning sequence by easily taking the Summer Handicap from an outsider in Noir. Mill Belle ran very fast for six furlongs, but failed to stay home.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The Dunstall officials were fortunate in obtaining such a fine afternoon for their meeting, and the outlook last night favours the assumption that the affair will be concluded in favourable conditions. The Breeders' Foal Plate of 700 sovs. will not amount to much as a contest, as, now that Catalani is scratched, the path of Concertina appears to be cleared. The first-named was fancied for the race at Kempton Park last week won by Scyphius, but failed to give her running, largely owing to the effects of a long road journey from her training quarters on the morning of the race. This filly should be followed. The Ruckley Handicap will probably cause most speculation. It certainly will in the event of the pick of the entries going to the starting post, but this is a very doubtful contingency. Broken Faith, Peter Rush, Sweet Dorothy, Pass the Mint, Envoy, and Santavon appear a likely lot in a very open handicap. North Waltham appears to have plenty of weight, and he may find both Warways and Young Perseus difficult to dispose of. Selections are as follow:—

Shrewsbury Handicap—Prima Donna or Lady Frances.
Walsall Handicap—Anitra's Dance.
Himley Plate—Elevation filly.
Breeders' Stakes—Concertina.
Bushbury Plate—Coombe Dick.
Ruckley Sweepstakes—Envoy; if absent, North Waltham.

STOCKTON.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME AND SELECTIONS.

Some nice heavy overnight rains have done a tremendous amount of good for the racing which begins to-day at Stockton and extends over the following two days, and everything points to some good sport, even though the overnight list of arrivals is not very strong. The Stockton Handicap will attract most attention on to-day's card. It is a very open race; at least half a dozen can be made out to hold chances. Welsh Spear is on the scene to make a first appearance of the season, but, if representing class, he has plenty of weight. Palomides is nicely in, and Set Off, who won over the course last year, is one that must come in for serious consideration. Whatcombe will be represented by Spes, who missed an engagement last week, no doubt, with a view to this liability, and, if running in the Sandown Park form behind Trossach Girl, will be a danger. To my mind, the best handicapped horse is Advantage. The distance will just suit the daughter of Bachelor's Double. A strong card can be played by the Manor House trainer, Dobson Peacock, with the selections of Monk of Blyth and Forerunner, but for the winner I shall depend on Advantage. In the Wynyard Plate Equator and Hellespont have arrived, and this pair appear to have the race to themselves. The first-named has to concede 13lb. to Lord Durham's youngster, and this is a big handicap—too much, unless Equator is tremendously smart. The Great Northern Leger will bring out only a small field, and my vote goes to Roger de Busli, though he will have to do his best to beat Bold Danby. Selections:—

Trial Plate—Longstop.
Harewood Plate—Rockfield.
Wynyard Plate—Hellespont.
Stockton Handicap—Advantage.
Great Northern Leger—Roger de Busli.
Harry Fowler Welter—Teresaken.
Bishopsgarth Handicap—Gazania.

[The figures in front of the names of the horses are an index to placings in their last three engagements—reading from right to left.]

MILTOWN MALBAY.

POOR SPORT.

Miltown-Malbay, revived after four years, was completely spoiled yesterday by a bad break in the weather, which set in in the early forenoon. The rain, at first light, developed into a heavy downpour, which lasted all through the racing, and spoiled the enjoyment of a big company. Nor did the quality of the sport make amends for the discomfort experienced. Fields were small, we had one walk-over, and two of the events fizzled out into matches. Captain Delmege scored two successes, with Merry Heart, which walked over for the Seaside Plate, and My Violet, which won the Armada Plate at the nice price of 5 to 1.

YACHTING.

TORBAY REGATTA.

There was a capital sailing breeze—W. to S.W.—at Torquay yesterday, when the regatta opened in fine weather.

Britannia was in port, but remained at anchor all day, neither Nyria nor Terpsichore being able to get around from Cowes. It is understood that they are now unlikely to make the tour of the Western regattas.

Candida and Paula III. were the only competitors in the handicap for yachts not exceeding 70 tons, and Candida was an easy winner on time allowance. Additional interest will centre in the race to-day, as it has been arranged that Britannia shall sail in the class on handicap allowance.

There were seven competitors in the six metre class, and Thistle won, with Freesia second, and Betty third. Details:—

MATCH—For International Six Metre Class. Course, 15 miles. Start 11.15.

Thistle got away with a clear lead, whilst Freesia, Betty, Reg, and Capelle were engaged in a luffing match, and never lost the advantage. The finish was:—

	H.	M.	S.
Thistle	1	49	0
Freesia	1	50	2
Betty	1	50	17
Reg	1	50	30
Capelle	1	52	6

In view of the current aspect of uneasiness over the Ruhr question, it was satisfactory to find the chief representative British Government Securities firmly supported and an enhanced price quoted, but the general volume of dealing was poor outside very few Securities. Banks were firmer in a quiet market. Among Breweries, Guinness Ord. at one time eased a trifle, but closed unaltered. J. Power and Son Pref. were harder. City Steam Stock further advanced, and Marconi Ord. Shares were firmer. Home Rails were almost neglected. Great Southern and Western rallied further. All Pre-Ord. issues were quite idle. Tyre, Gas, and Drapery Shares were all neglected. The Dunlop investigation report, expected to be issued the current week, did not influence a single order either to buy or sell. Johnston Bakery Shares fell back. Textiles were mostly lower, but Tobacco Shares were again under strong supporting pressure, in view of the reported early notification of a bonus on British-American Shares. Dolphin Hotel Ord. and Burke Debs. were on offer.

In the Funds the further rise of ¼ to 101⅛ in War Loan 5 p.c. Stock was the feature. Consols fell ⅛ to 58⅛, and War Loan 4 p.c. 1/16 to 101 1/16, while Conversion 3½ p.c. repeated 79⅛, India 3½ p.c. 69⅛, and ditto 5½ p.c. 101. Dublin Port and Docks 3½ p.c. realised 56⅛.

Banks closed generally harder. Bank of Ireland rose ½ to 248½, and Munster and Leinsters were bid up 1/16 to 6 1/16, without getting a share. Nationals were firm at 20⅛. Royals were unofficially called 14 to 14½, without any real attempt at business.

In Breweries, Guinness Ord. fell 1/16 to 38⅜ at the opening of the market, but later closed unchanged at 38 7/16, and the Pref. repeated 12⅛. John Power and Son Pref. rose 3d. to 22s.

City of Dublin Steam Stock rose ½ to 144½.

Marconi Ord. Shares rose 3d. to 47s. 3d.

Home Rails were very much neglected. Great Southern and Western rose ½ to 46½, while Dublin and South-Eastern repeated 20 for an odd lot. All Pre-Ord. issues were neglected. Athenry and Tuam 4 p.c. Baronials again realised 5, or half price.

In Bakery Shares, Johnston Ord. fell 2s. 6d. to 62s. 6d. from recent nominal quotation of 60s., 70s.

Trams were idle outside Dublin United Ord., which repeated 6 13/16.

Among Manufacturing Shares, British-American Tobacco rose 1s. 6d. to 106s., and Imperials 1s. to 71s. 4½d., 71s. 9d., 72s. Textiles were rather weaker, with the exception of Coats Ord., which rose 3d. to 68s. 9d. Bleachers fell 6d. to 47s., Dyers 1s. to 54s., Courtaulds 3d. to 62s., and Cottons 3d. to 49s. 9d., with a subsequent rally to 50s. Lever Bros 8 p.c. Pref. remain at 21s. sellers for choice.

In Trading, etc., E. and J. Burke Debs. fell 1/16 to 8 1/16, and Dolphin Hotel Ord. 2s. 6d. to 45s., while Brooks Thomas Ord. remain at 23s. for a small lot. Burke Ord. again fetched 64s. 6d.

Mexican Eagle Oils realised 20s. 7½d., and Hope Bros. Ord. 22s. 3d.

DOCUMENT NOT YET COMPLETED.

It would appear that the question of publishing the Dunlop Investigation Committee's report will be definitely decided when the document itself has reached its final form. According to authoritative information, the report is not yet completed, but it will be ready for the printer "in a very short space from now." Since the Committee of Inspection has been acting on behalf of the shareholders, it seems obvious that their report must be made to them. The question of wider publication is, of course, one for the directors to decide.

LONDON STOCKS QUIETLY STEADY.

A FIRMER TONE.

Quiet conditions ruled in the Stock Markets. Business was on an extremely small scale, but where any definite tone was apparent in any section it was steady to firm. French issues were inclined to harden on the improvement in the exchange and the prospect of a satisfactory Note being received by the British Government from M. Poincaré. Industrials were good in places, and Mining Shares were not without support. Conversions remained at 79 5/16 but 5 p.c. War Loan showed strength and closed with a rise of ¼ at 101⅛. Funding Loan lost ½ at 92. Other British Government securities showed no movement, and the Colonial list marked time.

A moderate amount of business was passing in the FOREIGN MARKET, and the tone was firm. French Loan 5 p.c. rose ½ to 25 x.d. Chinese and Japanese issues were strong, with a rise of 1 in places, and Mexican 5 p.c. 1899 and 6 p.c. 10-year Treasury both advanced 1½ to 59 and 70 respectively.

HOME RAILS presented a neglected front. The tone was steady, but business was insufficient to move prices, except in the case of Metropolitans, which improved ½ to 69 x.d.

Quiet, irregular conditions ruled among COLONIAL and FOREIGN RAILS. Canadian Pacifics repeated 161, and Grand Trunk Pacifics did not move. United Havana appreciated ½ to 71⅛, but Buenos Ayres and Pacific Ord. and Buenos Ayres and Western both lost that fraction.

OIL SHARES CHEERFUL.

RISES IN THE LEADERS.

Oil shares commenced the week quite cheerfully, this section of the "House" comparing favourably with other departments. Attention, however, was devoted mainly to a few specialities, and business was once more largely of a professional character. Preliminaries in connection with the settlement were in progress, and the arrangement of the carry-over was practically completed. A short position was revealed in certain of the leaders and speculative favourites. Certain dealers were short of Anglo-Persians and Burmahs and were endeavouring to take in both, and at one time there was a back. of 1/16 on Burmahs. There were also takers-in of Shells and Phœnix. This condition led to higher prices being quoted and the above-mentioned shares being bid for in the late dealings. Among the leaders, Shells registered an advance, and Royal Dutch came into demand shortly after midday on early advices from New York, and the price moved up, while gains were scored by Anglo-Persians and Burmahs. A steady business was done in Mexican Eagles, which were a firm market throughout the day. Business on behalf of Continental centres was of little importance. Closing prices:—

Linggi rose 7½. Nordanal advanced 9d.. Tali Ayer and Tandjong improved 6d. and 3d., respectively, and several florin Shares were a copper or so better. Sungei Choh reacted 1s. 7½d. Straits Rubber lost 7½d. Kepitigalla fell 9d. Anglo-Malays went back 10½d., and several losses of 3d. were marked. The price of rubber rose to 15½d. per lb. Closing prices:—

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Over £3,000,000 is involved in a deal which is proceeding for two of the largest steel and tinplate works situated near Swansea, four collieries in the same district, and steel works, and two collieries in Monmouthshire. While the negotiations, which are being undertaken by a London syndicate, are proceeding satisfactorily, nothing definite has yet resulted.

Is there not some independent trust company that will come forward and champion the cause of the Debenture holders of Workman, Clark, and Co. Something more is required, says the Evening Standard, than the investigation that has taken place. Probably several of the trust companies are holders of the Debentures, and if they were to solicit the support of private holders they would get it.

LONDON MINING MARKET FIRMER.

IMPROVEMENTS IN KAFFIRS.

A firmer tone was noticeable in all departments of the House yesterday, although business was still somewhat scarce. The Mining sections were engaged with the carry-over, and here the open position was found to be considerably reduced. The general contango rate charged was 5¼ p.c. to 6½ p.c., with here and there a tendency to be easier, Cam and Motor being done as low as 2 p.c., and Selukwe declining to 4 p.c. As regards the making-up prices, Kaffirs show a long list of improvements over those fixed for the last account. As regards new account business there was little accumulation of orders over the week-end, although a little professional activity was noticeable. The tendency in the South African section was distinctly more encouraging, and at the close quotations were higher on the day. City Deep were supported, and rose sharply, while the other leading Kaffirs were mainly the turn better. Randfonteins responded to bear covering, and the Centrals improved in sympathy. All told, at the finish a fairly long list of improvements was recorded. Among Rhodesians, Chartered were stronger. Cams moved up, and several of the lower-priced shares were better on the day. De Beers Deferred were steady, but the Preference Shares were marked down. Taquah and Abosso advanced in the West African section, but a couple of Barriers declined. Rio Tintos again improved, though closing slightly under the best. Closing prices.

INDUSTRIALS COLOURLESS.

TOBACCO GROUP FIRM.

Speaking generally, the Miscellaneous and Industrial markets showed no decided tendency yesterday, the imminence of the general carry-over and the uncertainties existing with regard to political developments restricting business. A good deal of interest again centred in the Tobacco group, B.A.T. closed a firm market at 104s. 9d., after having been dealt in at over 106s., while Imperials put on 1s. 3d. to 72s. 3d, business being recorded at 72s. 7½d. Canadas stiffened to 23s. 9d. and United Tobacco Def. rose to 59s. 6d. Among Miscellaneous descriptions, African and Eastern were subjected to realisations, and finished 6d. lower at 31s. 6d., while Oil Cakes eased to 27s. 9d., and Lever 8 per cent. Prefs. to 20s. 10½d. The 7 per cent., however, hardened to 22s. Cements held their ground at 23s. 3d., though the Prefs. eased to 18s. Slight improvements were seen in British Aluminium Prefs. at £1, in Nobels Prefs. at the same level, and in Waring and Gillow Prefs. at 9s. 6d. Gamage put on 6d. to 16s. 6d., as did also Nobel Def. to 7s. Bell's Asbestos lost 1/16 at 1 1/16, and Wallpaper Def. eased to 15s. 3d. In the Newspaper group, Associated Ord. dropped 6d. to 22s. 6d., and George Newnes a similar amount to 16s. 6d. The Def. shares of the former, however, strengthened to 7⅛. Renewed firmness was exhibited by Courtaulds, which finished 1s. higher on the day at 63s. Elsewhere in Textiles, however, Cellulose fell 6d. to 13s. 9d., and the Prefs. 3d. to 14s. 6d., while Listers came on offer and dropped 9d. to 26s. A fall of 1/16 in Jays to 11/16 was the only noticeable change in Foodstuffs. Among Land shares Sudan Plantations were wanted, and put on 1/16 to 5 11/16. Duff Developments closed 7½d. down on balance at 6s. 6d., and City of San Paulo Improvements weakened to 2s. 9d. Bank shares were irregular. Hong Kong and Shanghai fell 1 to 126, and Chartered of Indias ½ to 19½. Lloyds lost the turn at 59s. Gains of ⅛ took place in National of South Africas to 6, in National Provincial (£4) to 11, and in Union of Australias to 14½. Insurances kept steady at previous levels.

Following the announcement that no interim distribution would be forthcoming on the Ord. shares, Hadfields gave way to £1, which left them 1s. 3d. lower on balance. Fairbairn-Lawsons were practically unaffected by the reduction in their interim dividend, the shares remaining at 23s. 6d. Pease and Partners fell 6d. to 25s. 6d., and J. Brown Prefs. ⅛ to 8⅛, while Tata Debs. dropped ½ to 92. Workman-Clark Debs. weakened to 34, bargains being recorded at down to 31. On the other hand, Vickers continued in demand, and further improved to 13s. South Durhams were wanted and rose 9d. to 58s. 9d., and smaller advances occurred in Babcocks to 43s. 6d., in Baldwins to 17s. 6d., in Dorman Longs to 15s. 3d., and Guest Keens to 41s. Coal and Gas Stocks closed without quotable alteration, while the only noticeable movement in Shipping issues was a fall of 6d. in Furness Withys to 27s., ex. bonus. Among Electrical concerns, Chelseas gained 6d. at 64s. 6d., and Westminsters ⅛ at 9⅛, ex. div., while Edison Swans hardened to 4s. 9d. County of Londons kept firm at 43s., and the New at round 42s. In the Canadian-American list, Brazil Tractions rose 1 to 49. Apart from Lautaros, which met with fresh support and rose another ½ to 10, there was little of interest in Nitrates. In the Wireless group, Marconis kept firm at 2 11/16, though the Prefs. receded to 2 1/16. The Debs. rose ½ to 107. Among Cables, British Insulated strengthened to 48s., and Anglo B. to 100⅛. Chili Telephones improved to 6, and Telephone Manufacturing Bonds to 96, though United River Plates receded to 6⅛. Breweries moved within narrow limits. Allsopp Prefs. fell 1 to 64½, and Booths 6d. to 15s.; but Bass Prefs. rose ½ to 91½. Among Caterers, Aerated Breads strengthened to 25s. 9d., and Liptons to 26s. 6d., while in Foodstuffs, Bovril Def. improved to 28s. Van Den Berghs shed 1/16 to 1⅛, ex. div. Apart from Boots New, which were not so good at 91s. 3d., new issues kept firm. Enfield Cable Prefs. strengthened to 4½d. dis. Electrics continued in demand and rose to 41s. 3d., while Urban Debs. improved to 2⅛ prem.

COMPANY MEETINGS.

CENTRAL HOTEL COMPANY.

The annual meeting of the Central Hotel Company took place at the Central Hotel, Dublin, on Saturday. The directors present were—Sir James C. Percy, D.L.; Mr. George Richardson, and Mr. J. W. Jennings. The Chairman (Sir James Percy), before proceeding with the business of the meeting, expressed the great regret of the directors at the absence of Mr. White, through ill-health.

The directors' report and statement of accounts for the year ended 30th June, 1923, having been proposed by the Chairman and seconded by Mr. Richardson, was unanimously adopted, and the final dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. for the six months ended the 30th June, 1923, was passed, as was also the placing to reserve for the redemption of Debentures £1,000 and to the reserve for bad debts £300. Mr. George Richardson was unanimously re-elected a director. The company's auditors, Messrs. Craig, Gardner and Co., were re-elected auditors for the ensuing year, on the proposal of Mr. Charles O'Brien, which was seconded by Mr. George Booker. Mr. John H. Cooper proposed the best thanks of the shareholders to Mr. and Mrs. Tarrant for the very able manner in which they had conducted the management of the hotel. The proposal was carried unanimously.

MERCHANTS' WAREHOUSING COMPANY.

The thirty-fourth ordinary general meeting of the company was held at the company's offices, 11 Burgh quay, Dublin, yesterday. Mr. William Perrin presided.

The reports of the directors and auditors and the statement of accounts to 30th June, 1923, were submitted and adopted. A dividend of 6 per cent. for the six months ended 30th June, 1923, and a bonus of 4 per cent. for the year ended same date were declared, less income tax, payable on 27th inst., carrying forward £33,602, as against £32,992 last year. The retiring director, Mr. F. H. Hall, and the auditors, Messrs. Woodworth and Son, were re-elected.

The Chairman, before dealing with the report and accounts, on behalf of the directors expressed the sense of their loss on the death of the late secretary, Mr. Drought, who for forty-two years was associated with the company. The directors, he said, had the highest regard for him personally and in their business relations with him during this extended period. The position of secretary had been filled by the appointment of Mr. R. F. Woodworth, who had occupied a leading position with the company for a long period of years, and the directors felt that the work was again in safe hands.

The directors' report explained the conditions under which the company's business was carried on for the past year. From the causes stated the imports were restricted, and the consignees naturally avoided as far as possible the cost of warehousing. The position was still against holding stocks, but it was expected that there would be in the near future a return to normal conditions in prices, enabling the importer to purchase on the basis of a margin for carrying charges.

The question of working expenses, the Chairman continued, had actively engaged the attention of the management. Conferences with labour representatives have been repeatedly held, with a view to getting reasonable reductions in wages, but the results have been most disappointing. Increases of 300 per cent. were made during and since the war, and the two slight concessions had only amounted to about one-sixth of the 300 per cent. Quay labour before the war was paid 6s. per day. This was increased to 18s. per day. Two reductions of 1s. each were made, leaving the present wages 16s. per day, as against 10s. per day on the other side. The outlay on general account has been reduced, but the rates and taxes are a serious menace to industry, the outgoings under this head being £5,328 16s. 11d., and there is no indication of relief. Fortunately, the company in the time of plenty made ample provision by way of reserves and carry forward for possible lean times, and there is no occasion for anxiety, especially as the profits were maintained in the past year at the level of pre-war years.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman.

LIVERPOOL, Monday.—BACON—Irish, Danish, and Canadian sides remain nominal owing to continued scarcity. Holders of American selections here in consequence offer very sparingly despite the liberal shipments from the Atlantic seaboard for past week and easier prices for live hogs at Chicago. MISCELLANEOUS.

BRADFORD WOOL, Monday.—The market has resumed after the holidays with a cheerful tone for medium and coarse crossbreds, and some topmakers want slightly higher prices. THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS IN AMPLE SUPPLY.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE FRANC.

Owing to the absence of maturities it had been feared that loanable credit would be usable, especially as weekly balancing was going on by the banks. However, the demand for loans proved to be exceedingly small, more so because of the stagnation in discounts, and supplies were ample. Night money sometimes commanded 2½ p.c., but 2¼ was the average, with fixtures going on at 2¼. None of the banks was inquiring for bills, and discounts were very dull, with an easy tendency. The new Treasuries were 3 p.c. "to over," with no selling in evidence, fine three months' bank bills being 3 5/16-3⅛ p.c. Septembers were nominally 2⅞ and October just under 3.

Bank Rate (discount) changed July 5, 1923, 4%.

Gold was 3d. per oz. higher at 90s. 5d. nominal. Silver rose 1/16d. per oz. to 31 1/16d. for spot and 30⅞d. for forward delivery.

The more hopeful feeling surrounding the Franco-British position in regard to the Ruhr was reflected in a slight improvement in foreign exchanges. At one time French francs were 82.30, but rallied again to 81.80-81.90, with Belgium 102.65-102.75 and Italy 106-106⅛. Sterling was dull on New York at 4.55¼-4.55⅜, and German marks were nominally worse at 17,000,000-18,000,000, but Dutch florins appreciated to 11.58-11.58⅛, and Swiss francs remained firm at 25.17-25.20. Rupees were down at 1s. 4⅛d.-1s. 4 3/32d., but Japanese yen kept firm at 2s. 1⅜d.-2s. 1 13/32d. Argentine dollars weakened afresh to 38 7/16-38 11/16, Brazilian milreis remaining at 5 3/16-5 5/16. Norwegian kroner were not so good at 27.95-28.00, while Polish marks showed no recovery at 1,100,000-1,300,000, Rumania being 1,030-1,080 and Greece 260-270. The following are closing quotations:—
